NEW HIGHWAY PROJECT STUDIED

Memorial Service Will Be Held for Hon. J. A. Robb at First United Church This Morning

Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, will arrive in Victoria this morning, as previously arranged, but in view of the death of Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance in the Government of the Dominion, the reception to the Prime Minister has been canceled.

The business meetings which Mr. King had arranged to hold here will be carried out, but anything of a social character at his request will be canceled in view of the passing of his esteemed colleague, Mr. Robb.

There will be a memorial service held in the First United Church in this city today at 11 o'clock, which will be attended by the Prime Minister of Canada, by Hon. R. R. Bruce, Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Prime Minister of British Columbia, and other representatives of public bodies. The service will be conducted by Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson, pastor of the church, and other representatives of the United Church. The remains of the late Minister of Finance will be laid at rest today in his home town of Valleyfield, Quebec.

The conferences with Premier Tolmie by Mr. King will be held during his stay in the city when they will discuss matters relating to the Yukon and Alaska Highway proposition, when representatives from Seattle and from the Highway Commission of Alaska will also be present. The other matters between the Prime Minister and the Premier, which are to form the subject of discussion, will be dealt with during the stay of the Prime Minister in the capital of British Columbia.

TRIBUTE TO MR. ROBB
The late Mr. Robb was a fellow member of the House of Commons with Dr. Tolmie, who expressed his high esteem of the late minister yesterday. He said:

"It was indeed with profound regret that I learned of the death of Mr. Robb. He was one of our ablest and most conscientious public men and political differences never interfered with the friendship that existed between us."

"He was one of those who could be firm without submissiveness and could oppose without bitterness. He would be the last to sacrifice a friendship for party advantage, and enjoyed an equal popularity among political opponents and friends."

"I think that the country has lost in him one of the finest types of our public men. Personally, I feel his death as the loss of a kind friend, and that"

ISLAND WILL RETAIN FULL IMPORTANCE

Canadian Pacific Railway Is Developing Policy to Direct More Traffic to Vancouver Island

WINTER TOURIST MOVEMENT AIDED

Gratification at the enthusiasm with which citizens of Victoria are supporting efforts of the Canadian Pacific Railway further to develop the city and Vancouver Island as Canada's Winter playground was expressed here yesterday afternoon by Mr. Grant Hall, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal, who arrived on a seasonal inspection trip.

Mr. Hall, who is accompanied by Mr. D. C. Coleman, vice-president in charge of Western lines, Winnipeg; Mr. George W. Allan, K.C.; Mr. C. Montagu Black, of Winnipeg; and Mr. E. L. Bourne, prominent New York manufacturer. The party will remain in Victoria until tonight.

In view of the many important engagements, notably the Yuletide and Seasonal music festivals, and the second annual Empire Midwinter golf tournament which will be staged in Victoria during the present winter season, Victoria and its surroundings are receiving wide publicity as a Canadian resort which enjoys a mild and pleasant winter climate. Mr. Hall pointed out. With the wholehearted support that the people of Victoria are according the Canadian Pacific's plans for these winter functions the Island Capital bids fair to become more than ever before the Winter playground for thousands of Canadians and Americans.

Coupled with a continent-wide publicity drive which the Canadian Pacific has under way to attract winter tourists to Victoria and Vancouver Island, Mr. Hall continued, the company has again demonstrated its faith in the attractions of Vancouver Island by its extensive improvements to the accommodation of the Empress Hotel, including the new wing with its 260 up-to-date rooms, the new ballroom and conservatory.

Keeping pace with the rapid development of Vancouver Island from a tourist standpoint, the Canadian

MR. ROBB IS TAKEN HOME TO HIS REST

Body of Late Minister of Finance Is Taken by Special Train to Old Home at Valleyfield

FELLOW CITIZENS MOURN HIS LOSS

Funeral, Which Will Be Held Today, Though Quiet, Will Take on Appearance of State Ceremony

VALLEYFIELD, Que., Nov. 12.—The body of Hon. James A. Robb, finance minister and prominent figure in Canada's postwar history, tonight was lying in his home on St. Jean Baptiste Street here.

Today he was brought back from Toronto, where he died on Monday after a fine fight with illness. He came back to his friends, old and young, people who knew him as "Mr. Jim" or "Monsieur Jim," according to the language in which he spoke. While all day messages from far and wide poured in expressing sympathy with his family, his widow and her friends were alone with their dead.

QUET CEREMONY

Tomorrow, though his funeral will be of as simple a character as the deceased statesman in his modest manner would have wished, it will take on some of the dignity and impressiveness of a state funeral, for a representative of the Governor-General, ministers of the Crown, and members of Parliament and the Quebec Legislature will bow their heads beside his bier.

The day Mr. Robb's fellow-citizens called to bid him a last farewell, they will be accompanied by Mrs. Robb and Miss Robb, the minister's sister.

BODY ARRIVES

The body of Mr. Robb arrived here this morning in a special train from Toronto, accompanied by that faithful hand who had known so long as him during his illness, Mrs. Robb, Miss Robb, Mr. William Macdonald, his partner, and Mr. Watson Selar, his secretary.

APPEAL FROM ASSESSMENT IS DISMISSED

Application Made in Supreme Court of Revision Fails

COURT RELIES ON ASSESSOR'S WORK

At the conclusion of a hearing which commenced yesterday in Supreme Court Chambers at 10:30 and finished at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, the court has dismissed the appeal from the assessment of the property of Mr. John McGregor, against the decision of the Court of Revision made October 1, 1929, relating to the assessment of his property.

In doing so Mr. Justice Macdonald stated that his judgment was based on the weight of evidence, and he laid great stress on the assessment which Mr. George Okell, city assessor, had made. The latter was under oath to conscientiously and to the best of his ability to prepare the assessment lists, and had testified that he had done so, giving careful consideration to the value of the property. The court was satisfied that the assessor's work was correct.

Mr. McGregor stated that the house which is the subject of the appeal is situated at 1235 Styles Street, Victoria West, and is assessed at $2,650. The application had regard to the value of the improvements and there was no appeal against the assessment on the land. Mr. McGregor asked for the reduction on the ground that the assessment was higher than the sale value and was also inequitable in relation to other property of the same class.

SIR ESMOND OVEY GOES TO RUSSIA

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Sir Ronald Lindsay, Permanent Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, today was appointed ambassador to Washington.

Sir Esme Howard, the present ambassador, whose tenure of the post has been extended beyond the retirement age, will retire early next year.

CONNECTED BY MARRIAGE

The first wife of Sir Ronald was Martha Cameron, daughter of former Senator J. Donald Cameron, of Pennsylvania. She died in 1918. His second wife, whom he married in 1924, was Elizabeth Sherman Hoyt, daughter of the late Mr. Colgate Hoyt, of New York.

Sir Esmond Ovey, only recently appointed ambassador to Brazil, was taken up by the late minister, and was made possible by the recent agreement for the assumption of diplomatic relations.

The new ambassador is fifty-two years of age and was the fifth son of the twenty-sixth earl of Crawford. He entered the diplomatic service in 1903 and first served at Washington from 1903 to 1907 and 1920 he was Councillor of the Washington Embassy. He had been ambassador to Turkey and at Berlin from 1910 to 1912, and at St. Petersburg, The Hague, Paris, The Hague and in Egypt.

His appointment is a reward for his long and able service to the British Empire. He has been ambassador to the Philippines, and has been Councillor of the Washington Embassy.

A PARTY of 250 farmers, their wives and daughters were in the city yesterday from the United States on their way to attend the convention of the Grange in Seattle. In charge of Hon. J. P. Hartman, Seattle, the party spent the time from the arrival of the afternoon steamer from Vancouver at 2:30 until 5 o'clock, when they took the afternoon steamer for Seattle. The Seattle boat was delayed half an hour in sailing in order to allow the party to see Victoria and its environs.

CARPENTERS FROWN UPON WAGE SCALE

Term Rate Paid on Royal Athletic Park Grandstand Is Violation of Union Principles

CHALLENGE OF FIGURES GIVEN

Protest against what is termed "violation of union principles" in connection with the erection of the new grandstand at the Royal Athletic Park, was made by the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, Local Union No. 1568, last night in a letter to the City Council.

The council referred the letter to the public works and Royal Athletic Park committees of the council for report, and decided that work on the construction of the grandstand will cease until a decision on the matter has been reached.

Over fifty members of the carpenters' organization attended the council meeting, and listened with great attention to the discussion and action of the council on the issue.

LETTER FROM UNION

The letter sent the council by the Carpenters' Union, and signed by Mr. J. Townsend, recording secretary, was as follows:

"I am instructed to direct your attention to the violation of union principles in connection with the erection of the new grandstand at Royal Athletic Park."

"The work of construction is well advanced, and so far it has been performed by laborers working at a wage scale not recognized by members of the craft. The wage scale of this union is $8 per day, and I am informed that the wage scale on the grandstand job is $4.25 per day."

"You will be aware that the municipality is required to insert a fair wage clause in all contracts let by the council. Why is it, then, that the council, when doing its own work, violates a principle which it invariably imposes on others?"

LOW WAGE SCALE

"It may appear at first sight as if the only sufferers from your record on this matter were the carpenters."

FIGHT ENDS IN ROUT OF REBEL ARMY

Very Heavy Losses on Both Sides Reported in Fierce Battle Between Rebel and Government Forces

REBELS SAID TO BE DRIVEN BACK

Large Numbers of Wounded of Each Army Arriving at Bases to Be Given Medical Help

SHANGHAI, Nov. 12.—With unverified estimates of losses of ten thousand killed on each side, Japanese press dispatches from Hankow stated today that Nationalist Government troops had defeated the Kuomintang (People's army) in the battle of Mian-shan, and had driven the rebels twenty-five miles westward to Teng Feng, Honan Province.

The Nationalists were said to have suffered heavily in expelling the Kuomintang forces from Mian-shan, but after receiving reinforcements were preparing for another battle with the rebel army at Teng Feng.

The Kuomintang troops, numbering 100,000, said the dispatches, were building entrenchments around Teng Feng and preparing to defend the city. Aided by the terrain, the rebels were expected to make a strong fight against the Government army led by Chiang Kai Shek, the Nationalist commander in chief.

Severity of the fighting was indicated by the arrival of 1,000 Nationalist wounded at Hankow and the internment of 1,000 Kuomintang prisoners at Wuchang. Two ships loaded with Nationalist wounded were reported to have reached Wuchang, near the city.

This far the Nationalists have been successful in preventing the Kuomintang rebels from seizing the Kiangnan railway in Honan Province and the Nationalist plan to capture Hankow, chief port of Central China on the Yangtze River.

CANOE UPSETS; OCCUPANT HAS DISAPPEARED

W. H. Lum, Chinese, Is Believed to Have Been Drowned by Capsizing of Craft in Sooke Harbor

EMPTY CANOE IS BROUGHT ASHORE

When his canoe capsized in Sooke Harbor, near Cooper's Cove, shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, W. H. Lum, Chinese, employed as a cook by Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Warren, Sooke, is believed to have met a watery grave.

The accident happened in full view of Mr. Warren, who, immediately saw the craft capsized, telephoned for help. Captain Roberts, a pilot, rushed to the rescue in a motorboat, but returned with the empty canoe, which bears mute evidence to the apparent drowning of the Chinese.

Lum, who has been in the employ of Mr. and Mrs. Warren for the past two years, had been warned about going out in the canoe at this time of the year, as he had been thrown into the water from a canoe some time ago but managed to swim ashore.

Mr. Warren stated to The Colonist last night that the Chinese was a strong swimmer, but it was thought that the sudden exposure to the chilly water may have caused cramp. Lum was only five hundred feet from shore at the time.

The Provincial Police will investigate today.

The cost of installing this interchange track is to be borne by the C.P.R., who also supported the application.

British Empire Producers Want Reciprocity

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Steps to promote the conclusion of extended reciprocal agreements between the United Kingdom and the Empire overseas are recommended in a resolution unanimously adopted by the council of vice-presidents of the British Empire Producers' Organization today.

The resolution was sponsored by Lord Melchett, the new president of the organization.

The problem facing the Empire, Lord Melchett said, was to balance over-industrialized Great Britain with the over-agriculturalized other parts of the Empire. He said he had already received informal support throughout the Empire for the suggested businessmen's conference.

kenzie. The remainder of the party drove about the city before the steamer sailed.

Mr. Hartman, in introducing the Premier in the Legislative Chamber, referred to the fact that in Canada they would find no difference between the resident and their own people. They were one people, he said.

In presenting Premier Tomin to them he described him as British Columbia's most distinguished son, born in the province, and his father had come to the Pacific Coast in 1833. He added that Dr. Tomin had done more for agriculture than any other man in Canada, where he had been Minister of Agriculture at Ottawa for five years.

The Premier expressed his pleasure in welcoming such a party to the province. He was sorry they were not staying longer, so that the farmers of British Columbia might derive some advantage from their stay.

Respective of any boundary line between the countries of Canada and the United States, the Premier said that the Pacific Coast was destined to attain great things, owing to its geographic position, facing two-thirds of the population of the world. He was glad that they had come to the Pacific Coast for their convention.

Recalling the fact that for 117 years the two nations had lived alongside one another without any fortifications being necessary, the Premier ascribed it to the good sense shown by both sides. He had no doubt they would continue to settle their disputes by arbitration as in the past, and so set an example to all the rest of the world.

The Premier introduced Hon. W. Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture, to the gathering, at the same time hoping that much good would come of their convention in Seattle.

GRANGE ORGANIZATION

Mr. Atkinson recalled that many years ago he had remembered his father in Ontario being a member of the Grange. That organization, however, had not prospered evidently in Canada and it was not much heard of now on this side of the line. At the same time there were co-operative organizations in various lines in parts of Canada, including British Columbia, which were working along somewhat similar lines, and were doing good for the farmers.

The minister alluded to the tremendous possibilities in the Columbia along agricultural lines. There was a tremendous amount of land that was open to settlement and to production. In this connection he reminded them that the way was open to those from the United States as from Canada to come in and settle upon this land. The Peace River, with its tremendous possibilities, was alluded to, where he said there was a country "the last great West" which would support 100,000 people in an agricultural way.

Mr. Atkinson felt that farming was on an upward trend. In the United States there had been occasion to borrow money, which he said had been attempted here, but he felt that the outlook was now better.

gratiable action are the members of the Carpenters' Union. Such, however, is not the case. The low wage scale operative during the winter of the past decade led to a general exodus of skilled workers to more attractive spheres of employment. The lamentable result, has been seen during the past twelve months when important construction jobs in the city of Victoria have been largely performed by workmen residing elsewhere. The paymaster has been flowing to points outside Victoria with heavy loss to the Victoria tradesmen and to the general detriment of Victoria's growth and development.

"The issue I am raising is an important one, upon which I desire to place the members of the City Council on record. Is it your desire that laborers, earning laborer's wages, shall displace craftsmen, or are you prepared to pay reasonable wages to men who have mastered their trade? I await your early reply and would suggest that all work cease until you have reached a decision."

Alderman James Adam took exception to the writer's statement that the wage scale on the grandstand job was $4.25 per day.

"There are six men employed on the work at present and five of them are being paid $4.75 per day and the other man is getting $5.75 per day. I am informed that when the rough work is done, two or three carpenters will be employed. I

RUNS FIVE MILES IN FORTY-FIVE MINUTES AT 70

Not many men at 30 today, especially city men, can run five miles straight away, in any time. Yet, on September 27th, 1928, Dr. Robt. G. Jackson, at 70, did this in forty-five minutes, before 6 a.m. It's only a matter of keeping the blood running, or nonacid, which he does by eating alkaline Roman Meal, the only alkali-forming grain food, because the only food containing flaxseed. Because of a diseased heart, twenty years ago, Dr. Jackson was given only four months to live. Now he can suspend his body between two chairs, resting on heels and head, with 180 pounds on his abdomen—a great feat at any age, but at 70, marvelous! would move that the matter be referred to the public works and Royal Athletic committees for report.

INFRINGING AGREEMENT

Alderman E. S. Woodward said that time would be lost if this course was adopted, until it was ultimately dealt with by the council. He considered it was unfortunate that the City Council was not paying the scale obtaining in this district.

"We are infringing an agreement and we should gracefully bow and say that, for the balance of the time on the grandstand job, we will pay the recognized scale of wages for carpenters."

The alderman moved an amendment that the council accede to the request of the Carpenters' Union, and pay the wage scale of $8 per day to carpenters for the balance of the time on the grandstand project. Alderman Dewar, in seconding the amendment, held that it was the duty of the council to recognize that scale, and he said he was unaware that such a scale was not being adhered to in connection with the grandstand work.

"It is news to me that we have not been paying the wage scale of the union," said Alderman H. O. Litchfield. "I would like to get a report of the position we are in. It may be that if we are forced to pay the union wage, we may have to stop the work altogether. I would not be prepared to go on with the work if we haven't sufficient money provided for the estimates for it."

LEGITIMATE COMPLAINTS

Alderman Adam said he would like the matter to be referred to some committee so that the matter could be investigated, and he would like to confer with the union's secretary. "No doubt the men have legitimate complaints," he said.

An inquiry into the issue was advocated by Alderman William Marchant, who said: "If co-operation is being done now, we should pay them the union scale of wages. It may be, however, that the work being performed now is laborer's work, and if so, then the city workmen should do it."

"If we employ outside carpenters and do not pay carpenter's wages, we would be the enemy of the men we see good wages paid. Our workmen are busy every day in the year. But carpenters may work one or two days, and be without employment for a period. This matter should be carefully inquired into," said Alderman Mara.

City Engineer Frank M. Preston stated that the three men and three outside men were at present working on the grandstand project. The sum of $4.75 per day was being paid by the city for rough carpenters.

The amendment sponsored by Alderman Woodward was defeated, and the original motion, moved by Alderman Adam, that the matter be referred to the public works and Royal Athletic Park committees, was approved.

Alderman John A. Worthington moved, seconded by Alderman Marchant, that the work on the Royal Athletic Park grandstand cease pending the decision of the council on the issue, which resolution was carried.

BOARD ENDORSES WEST COAST ROAD

Nanaimo Board of Trade Wants
Tolfin-Sprout Lake Highway to Be Completed at Once

NANAIMO, Nov. 12.—The regular monthly meeting of the board of trade was held this evening in the board of trade room, with Mr. Percy Cowman presiding.

A letter was read from Messrs. E. H. Bridgman, Charles E. Hope and W. C. Woodward regarding the Oriental situation in the province, asking the board to send a delegate to a conference to be held in Vancouver this month or, if the delegate could not be sent, to write them in regard to the board's view of the subject. After a lengthy discussion the letter was received and filed.

It was moved and seconded that another letter be sent to the chairman of harbor fisheries in regard to the local foghorn, which has caused several to send in complaints.

An invitation was given by Mr. P. B. Fowler, at a meeting of the executive of the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver and held here last week, inviting the board to attend an address to be given by Colonel J. H. Woods in Victoria Thursday evening. The matter was left in the hands of the president and secretary in regard to sending delegates.

Mr. Cowman again brought up the subject of the West Coast road from Sprout Lake to Tolfin. The cost of completing this road would be $600,000, as estimated by an engineer present. It was moved and seconded that the board of trade be approached on the subject, as this road is an absolute necessity for trade and a real beauty spot for tourists. Every-thing possible will be done to have this road completed.

SIR THOMAS WHITE

Sir Thomas White said: "I am deeply shocked and grieved to hear the sad and unexpected news. We were fellow members of the House of Commons for many years, and I always greatly liked and respected him. He was a man of most kindly and attractive personality and possessed in unusual degree the quality of an unusual degree of self-control, which is always highly regarded in a deliberative assembly."

"As Minister of Finance, Hon. Mr. Robb enjoyed in marked degree the esteem of the Canadian people, based upon the high probity of his character, his administrative ability and his sincere devotion to the duties of his office. He was a fine type of public man, whose long services should be held in grateful remembrance by the Parliament and people of Canada."

SIR HENRY DRYTON

Sir Henry Drayton said: "It is with the deepest regret and much sorrow I learned of the death of my old friend, Jimmy Robb. As such he was known to all members of the House, irrespective of parties. Everybody liked him, and, moreover, everybody trusted him, and that trust was well founded. He was generous in victory and smiling in defeat. Too just and too fair to be ungenerous to his most bitter foe, Canadian politics has been all the better for Jimmy Robb and the country today mourns the loss of a devoted servant and a wise councillor."

Knots gathered at the station and on street corners as the hearse carrying the casket passed through the city to the family home, and spoke of "Jim" Robb who had come back to the spot on which he had died in the little cemetery. All were deeply touched when it became known he was always to sleep there instead of in the hospital at Ottawa, the scene of his Parliamentary successes.

The funeral service will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow at the United Church and will be conducted by Rev. J. O. Grier, the pastor of the dead finance minister. The casket will start for the spot on which Mr. Robb so often stood during his services, for he was elder of the church.

A special train will bring cabinet colleagues and fellow members of Parliament from Ottawa, while numbers of friends from Montreal will motor to Valleyfield for the service.

LASTEST ARRANGEMENTS

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—From Victory Tower on Parliament Hill a programme of appropriate music will be rendered tomorrow afternoon during the funeral service of Hon. J. H. Robb at Valleyfield, Que.

Through the chimes of the carillon the same hymns as are being sung at the funeral of the Minister of Finance will be heard. This mark of respect in the capital will be from 2 to 2:30 o'clock, the period of the burial service at the old home of the late statesman. Government departments will be closed for the day from 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Colonel Humphrey Snow, controller of the viceregal household, will represent the Governor-General.

Premier Mackenzie King has requested his private secretary, Mr. W. H. Measures, to be his personal representative at the funeral.

PALIBEARERS

Palibearers were announced late today. The honorary palibearers will be Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Railways and Canals; Rt. Hon. G. P. Graham; Hon. J. C. Elliott, Minister of Public Works; Hon. Honore Mercier, of the Quebec Government; Hon. P. Rinfret, Secretary of State, and Hon. P. H. A. Carleton, Minister of Marine and Fisheries.

Close friends of Mr. Robb from his own district will be palibearers. The names announced are: Messrs. R. B. News, Orlin Cairns, Thomas Pringle, Morris Leaney, Walter Walsh and Dr. Laroche.

Sir George Perley, former High Commissioner for Canada at London, and member for Argenteuil, will be the official representative of the Conservative Party at the funeral.

MESSAGES TO PREMIER

VANCOUVER, Nov. 12.—Among the messages of condolence received by Prime Minister Mackenzie King today over the death of his colleague, Hon. J. A. Robb, was one from Lord Pasfield, Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs.

"I have learned," the message read, "with regret of the death of Mr. Robb, and desire to express my sincere sympathy with His Majesty's Government in Canada at the loss of his valuable services."

Marcus Carlholm, Consul General of Sweden, wired his sincere condolences.

Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, wired:

"Please accept my profound sympathy in the great loss you and your colleagues have experienced, loss which is shared by the entire nation."

"Please accept for the Canadian Government my sincere condolences," wired I. M. Tokugawa, Japanese Minister to Canada.

"May I extend to you and your colleagues in the Government my sincerest sympathy," E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, messaged, "in the great loss sustained through the death of Hon. James Robb. He was an ever ready, able, devoted and respected public servant who merited to the fullest extent the confidence reposed in him by yourself and the people of the country."

Land and Investment Agency, Ltd., the first witness called by the appellant, testified that a fair valuation, based on the sales which had taken place in the vicinity recently, would be about $2,500. The locality, he said, was not very good, and values in it had been reduced.

Mr. Maclean pointed out to witnesses that the house was built in 1925, had cemented foundation and floors and cost more than $3,200 to build. A garage had since been put in and the property was insured for $3,000. Mr. Maclean took witness through a long examination in regard to the values of other properties in the district.

Mr. Beaumont Boggs, who said he had had forty years' experience in connection with real estate in the city, estimated the sale value at $2,150. Property in Victoria West, he said, had not increased in value.

Mr. Max Lohbrunner, carpenter and builder, said he would be prepared to build a similar or better house for $2,150, and Mr. W. Drysdale, builder, who was the first witness called by the city, said he considered the city's assessment of $2,650 a very fair one, and he would not like to take on the job of building a similar house at the price the former witness had quoted. He reckoned the average age of a wooden frame building on good foundation at sixty years.

Mr. James Forman, of Messrs. Heisterman, Forman & Co., said he would consider $3,500 was about the selling value of the land and improvements, and he would allow $300 for the land.

Mr. George Okell, city assessor, said that Mr. McGregor, in giving his evidence before the Court of Revision, stated that the house cost $3,200 or more. The assessment on the house and garage was $2,650, which he considered a thoroughly true and fair value, the house being modern and in first-class condition. The annual taxes paid amounted to $79.09 annually. In

INDIGESTION TORTURE

Pain and Suffocating Pressure Until Tanlac Brought Relief

Only those who are tortured by indigestion cramps after eating, and suffocating pressure of gas, can realize the relief, the joy, which came to Mrs. Odelle Langlois, as Tanlac freed her of every trace of Stomach Trouble.

For 25 years, she suffered. "Food was like poison," she writes from 714 Albert Street, Windsor, Ont. "It would cramp me and gas would blast me up so I could hardly catch my breath, and I would become dizzy and faint. I became so weak and nervous that my daughter had to do my housework. I spent enough on treatments to buy a home; and it almost breaks my heart to think that I did not use Tanlac before. Because four bottles of this grand medicine made me a well woman. I could feel the very first spoonful helping me; and now after only four bottles, I have regained my health and strength. My husband also used Tanlac for Kidney Trouble and it has made a new man of him."

If you are suffering, don't wait. Get Tanlac today. It is pure and good—and it must help you or your money will be promptly refunded. It costs less than 2c a dose—less than 5c a day to get well. Ask your druggist.

MIGRATION OF BOYS AIDED BY CHURCH ARMY

Captain Ticehurst, Official Visitor for Western Canada, Gives Explanation of Methods Adopted

UNDER SUPERVISION FOR THREE YEARS

Captain Ticehurst, official visitor for Western Canada of the Anglican Church Army, with headquarters in Winnipeg, is on a holiday visit to Victoria, and gave the following interesting account of the Army's work in an interview with a Colonist representative.

The Church Army was founded in London, England, nearly fifty years ago by Prebendary Wilson Carlyle, C.H., D.D., who is now honorary secretary, the objects being mainly evangelistic and social. The work which Capt. Ticehurst is engaged in, however, is the immigration of boys from the Old Land to work on farms in the prairie provinces. These lads, ages from fourteen to nineteen years, are not brought from the slums of London, or the big cities, as some people suppose, but well educated boys, sons of clergymen, army officers, civil servants' sons, as well as the sons of workmen. These lads are selected to work for farmers in the provinces of Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

HOSTEL IN WINNIPEG

The hostel established in Winnipeg for the supervision of the boys is under Capt. G. A. Harrison, representative of boys' immigration for the whole of Canada. Since the hostel was recognized by the Government in June, 1925, just over 800 boys have been placed on the farms, 87 per cent of whom are doing well, which reflects credit upon the way the lads adapt themselves to the work of the farm. The boys are brought over from the Old Land in Spring and Summer, so as to get accustomed to the work before Winter sets in. Their passage money is paid to Quebec or Halifax, and railway fare to Winnipeg; not more than twenty-five boys being brought over at any one time. Arrived at the hostel at Winnipeg, the boys are carefully looked after, advised as to their destination and the farmer to whom the boy is engaged, notified to meet him at the far-end. The outfit provided for the lads consists of the following kit: Winter cap, woollen sweater, Mackinaw, two pairs overalls, two pairs woollen socks, felt boots, overalls, one pair rubbers, leather mitts, and woollen mitts. The boys are engaged to the farmers for a period of three years, during which time the boys are advised to keep in touch with the hostel at Winnipeg, which is always open to them if sick, the welfare of the boys being the hostel's chief consideration.

SUPERVISED THREE YEARS

The period of supervision is three years, during that time 50 per cent of the boys' wages, while at work on the farm is taken care of by the superintendent of the hostel at Winnipeg and placed to the credit of each individual boy in the bank, and returned to him at the end of the three years. Boys who have done well have usually between $300 and $400 to their credit. A visit is paid to wherever the lads are working at least once a year by the superintendent, and on any emergency arising Capt. Ticehurst is advised to proceed to destination, from wherever he may be; sometimes three or four hundred miles away. Farmers are well satisfied with the work the boys are doing, but, like, sometimes, the lad thinks he knows better than the farmer and won't be advised, as in the case of one boy who, in spite of all the farmer had told him about precautions during extreme frost, refused to be advised with the result that he lost three of his toes through frostbite.

Capt. Ticehurst, during the three years he has been in charge of the juvenile immigration branch of the Church Army's work, has travelled over 70,000 miles in the prairie provinces in the interest of the lads, and so great are the possibilities of boy emigration that he purposes interviewing the Premier, Hon. S. F. Timmins, before leaving the city, to ascertain what opportunities there are in British Columbia for a work which is proving a success in other parts of Canada.

The Prime Minister of Canada is chairman of the committee in charge of the juvenile immigration branch of the Church Army's work in Winnipeg, which, in addition to the boy immigration work, is also largely interested in the housing scheme for large families which is proving a success in the Old Land.

Dominion President of Anglican Young People's Association Will Meet Members Here

Mr. George Pither, Dominion president of the Anglican Young People's Association, is now in Victoria in the interests of this Canada-wide organization of 861 branches, reaching from coast to coast.

An opportunity will be given to the local Anglican clergy and the Local Council of A.Y.P.A. to meet Mr. Pither, when he speaks at a meeting specially arranged for their benefit at St. Mary's Parish Hall, Oak Bay, this evening at 7:45 o'clock.

Mr. Pither will also address a gathering of young people of the Anglican communion at St. Barnabas' Sunday School tomorrow evening at 7:45, when he will speak on the progress of A.Y.P.A. throughout the Dominion.

Mr. Pither has had wide experience in this work and his knowledge of the problems confronting young people of the church today, together with his keen desire to foster a closer relationship between the church and A.Y.P.A., should assure a very interesting and helpful time to those who attend these meetings.

VERSATILE MINISTER HAS BUSY PERIOD

Hon. J. Hinchliffe Speaks, Preaches and Confers on Many Subjects
During Mainland Visit

The Minister of Education, Hon. J. Hinchliffe, has returned to the city after taking part in a number of events connected with the duties of his office, which extended over the week-end.

The minister had occasion to attend the opening of a well-appointed public school, which has been completed in Chilliwack. The school is one of sixteen rooms, and reflects credit, he says, upon the progressive people of that city.

On Saturday night, Mr. Hinchliffe was present at a most interesting meeting in Burnaby, when he met the members of the municipal council and the school board, and went into the whole subject with them of adjusting the school taxation so as to press more equitably upon the whole of the citizens of the province.

This gathering, the minister said, was a most helpful one, and he found the representative men present at that meeting most anxious to see that something fair was done.

There was, he said, an absence on the part of them all to try to have certain classes in the community bear the main part of the burden, and thus relieve others of full responsibility for the duty of upkeep of the schools.

Even on Sunday the minister was not allowed to rest, but assisted in the services in the cathedral in New Westminster in the forenoon, and in the evening took part in the services of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

On Monday he was present at the University, when the gymnasium was formally turned over.

Dead Trader Was Noted Figure of Canadian West

WINNIPEG, Nov. 12.—The Canadian West lost a noted figure, connected with many colorful events of its early days, in the death here today of Mr. W. J. McLean, former Hudson's Bay Company trader. Born in the West eighty-seven years ago, Mr. McLean started a noteworthy career that carried him many times into the unsettled Northwest about seventy years ago. He was known for more than two score years as "Big Bear" McLean.

In charge of the Hudson's Bay Company trading post at Fort Alexander in 1885, during the Northwest Rebellion, Mr. McLean was captured by hostile Indians and carried into the wilderness of Northern Saskatchewan. He was held captive for sixty-three days before he escaped.

FRENCH NAVAL POLICY

The French attitude on reductions in naval armament is largely dependent on what considerations will come up for review at the Five Power Naval Conference to be held in London early in the new year. Before that gathering it is possible that France and Italy may reach a common line of agreement as to what they consider the relative strength that should be maintained as between themselves. Italy has invited such a conference, her design being that there should be some guarantee for the future regarding what would be her "theoretical parity" with France in naval strength. The French attitude hardly contemplates such parity, but there is a realization, as both are Mediterranean Powers, that a modus vivendi is possible and there will be an effort to reach this before the Five Power Conference.

The French view on naval disarmament is not obscured. As a first principle it is stated that the French Navy must conform to French requirements, as to which France alone can judge. It is, moreover, held that the principle adopted at Washington "of apportioning battleship tonnage on a basis suitable to the two most powerful maritime nations is not applicable to smaller types." In this attitude France may come into conflict with Britain and the United States who are said to have reached a tentative agreement as to their cruiser requirements. Another aspect of the French attitude is that she does not accept the viewpoint that her naval requirements are the same as those of Italy though she might be willing to accept "theoretical parity," which is an elastic phrase. One point on which France is determined and that is against the total abolition of submarines. Moreover, she is persuaded that "the possession of strong forces still" exercises an influence in the framing of national policy.

The naval programme now being undertaken by France comprises 68 submarines, among which are 28 of the coastal and 34 of the ocean-going variety. Of these some have already been constructed. With such a programme any proposals regarding the abolition of submarines that may be raised at the Five Power Conference are not likely to be acquiesced in by France. The acceptance by France of the invitation to this gathering contains reservations. The most important of these is the Government's liberty to defend the interests and rights of France where national security is concerned, a principle which should govern the course pursued by any nation.

TRADE WITH RUSSIA

It does not matter very much what kind of diplomatic relations are established between Britain and Soviet Russia so long as the mentality of the latter country remains what it is. There is bound, sooner or later, again, as in the case of the Zinovieff disclosures, to be a rift in the lute. Five years ago the London bankers defined the measures whereby the Soviet realm could restore confidence in its honesty, and these still stand. They involve restitution of property stolen; guarantees for future freedom from confiscation; the adoption of a civil code with independent courts; liberty of trade with private interests in Russia controlled by people whose character, word and resources could be trusted. When all these things are accomplished there will be a growing trade with Russia. At present the barometer of Russia's integrity is registered at Lloyd's and the risks of insuring against loans made or credit given for trade purposes can easily be determined. They are prohibitive, and will remain so for some time to come despite an exchange of Ambassadors between the two countries. There is no change of mentality evidenced in Russia nor is there likely to be until there is a change of Government first.

THE LOST ARENA

There will be very bitter disappointment among thousands of our citizens, young and old, if a decision should be reached not to build another arena for ice-skating to replace that destroyed by fire on Sunday last. The arena had become an institution here. It may be that when first constructed it was a little ahead of the population necessary to provide the requisite patronage to make the enterprise a paying venture. Since then conditions have altered for the better. There has been a steady access to population; more and more skaters have been availing themselves of the opportunity of following their pastime, and both professional and amateur games of ice-hockey have been drawing good crowds.

As to whether those responsible will build another arena is a matter to be considered strictly from the business standpoint. If, however, the old arena was able to be maintained so long and was earning added popularity each year, it is axiomatic to believe that the facility justified its existence. The general hope will be that the promoters of skating on artificial ice will view the matter from the standpoint of not letting a territory go in which they were definitely established and had earned the good will of the people. The loss of the arena means that the present season of skating will be largely a blank to Victorians, for periods of such outdoor exercise are few and far between in the beneficent climate. One of the major sporting attractions, in professional games of ice-hockey, will also be lost to our citizens during the coming Winter.

The destruction of the skating arena causes a considerable disruption in the habits of a large proportion of our people. There is a definite and growing demand for such facilities and the hope may be expressed that those who have maintained them in the past will realize that the present void will be the most emphatic of all lessons to the community of how much interest, amusement and recreation centered in this sport. The promoters, indeed, can rely on all-round cooperation if in their wisdom they decide to build another and even more commodious arena in Victoria.

NEW YORK AND SCOTLAND YARD

The grounds upon which Mr. Grover Whalen, Police Commissioner of New York, claims that the police department of that city is superior to New Scotland Yard are not apparent. Mr. Whalen has been instrumental in reorganizing the police force of the great American city, and his enthusiasm for what he has done seems to outrun the facts of the situation. After all, the value of a police department depend on the results which it achieves. In New York during 1928 there were 200 murders and only seven convictions, whereas, during the same period the London police investigated eighteen capital crimes, secured eleven convictions and the other seven persons wanted committed suicide.

New York's record of last year seems likely to be eclipsed during 1929, but not in the way that Police Commissioner Whalen anticipates. Up to date there have been 134 murders in the American city during 1929 and just one conviction has been secured. Over and above this a point to be remembered in comparing the two police forces is that in New York the chances of being robbed are thirty-six times greater than in London. Whatever may be the detailed explanations of Mr. Whalen's claim he may be reminded of that well known aphorism of Junius to the effect that, "the plain evidence of fact is superior to all declarations."

The British Labor Government's solution for the unemployment problem seems to rest largely on spending the taxpayers' money. A sum of $210,000,000 has already been earmarked for the purpose and the expenditure of another $150,000,000 is being considered. Taxation under Labor is being given every opportunity of growing by leaps and bounds.

RHYTHMS OF THE WORLD

How often, standing on the beach, have we wondered at the rhythm of the waves. These mighty rolling waters, the most stupendous moving mass upon the earth, rolling on and on from almost the beginning of the world. They come up like a whisper, they swing back like the echo of a song. Is it not all music, the ebb and flow of this oldest moving thing on our eyes can look upon? There is music in the spheres, there is rhythm everywhere. The movements of the planets in their path around the sun bring us the rhythm of Spring and Autumn, Summer and Winter. The spinning of the earth upon its axis brings us the rhythm of day and night, coming and going. The regular pull of the moon and the sun gives rhythm to the tides of the sea. There is a regularity of rhythm in the changing of climate; we can trace it in the rhythm of disease. There is a little worm whose daily life upon the earth is ordered by the moon—an astonishing witness—but only one of millions—in the marvellous relation of all things to each other in this intricate yet rhythmic world. The famous praying palm of Fayoum raised its head to the ground toward the afternoon and bowed it to its highest position in the morning. But Sir Jagadis Bose, the Indian biologist, showed that the movements of the tree—which happened to grow slanting, at an angle about sixty degrees to the vertical—were the direct result of the fluctuations of outside temperature. A fall of temperature induced the tree to rise; a rise of temperature induced the tree to bow. When a plant is grown in a window it bends towards the light. This is because the influence of light is to slow down growth, so that the side of the stem towards the window does not grow so quickly as the more shaded side. Therefore, the plant bends towards the light. It is not easy to explain why the constitution of some creatures is suited to activity in the light, and that of others to activity in darkness. The earthworm, accustomed for ages to an underground life, is uncomfortable if brought to the surface during the day; but it roams about actively at night, and is sometimes so belated that it is caught by the early bird in the morning. In the same way bats are contrasted with most birds. The coming of darkness pulls the trigger of activity, the coming of light draws it back to rest. It has been discovered that what brings the moth, flying past, into the candle, is the automatic obligation to get both eyes equally illuminated. If one eye is more illuminated than the other the muscles of that side of the body work more energetically and turn the head of the moth towards the candle. As every creature is a link in a food chain it is not surprising to find that it is in pursuit of their prey that some animals go up and others go down. This wonderful rhythm which runs through Nature is surely a witness to the unity of all things, to the law that runs throughout the universe.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

We are still sitting on the stool of repentance, and while sitting there in a chastened state of mind we might as well make a complete confession of our sins and grave absolutions. We have two copies of The Manitoba Free Press before us. We have looked those two copies over, and find in them ample evidence of the fact that when we said a short time ago that The Manitoba Free Press was a dull paper we said something that was too sweeping. What we should have said was that The Manitoba Free Press was dull in spots but that there were some bright spots in an otherwise dull paper.

The dull spots in The Free Press are the editorials and the bright spots are made by some of the contributions which are printed on the editorial page. And yet The Colonist Office, would be a comparatively dull place if The Free Press were to take offence and cut us off its exchange list, for we read The Free Press editorials carefully and diligently every day chiefly for the purpose of making notes of the few things Canadian The Free Press approves of and of the innumerable things Canadian The Free Press disapproves of. So far we have found nothing Canadian that The Free Press approves to except Right Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King and the Wheat Pool, and its approval of the Wheat Pool is limited and qualified, as if it were waiting to observe the results of the Wheat Pool's policy before giving vent to unreserved approval.

On the other hand, there are innumerable things Canadian that The Free Press disapproves of and finds fault with besides the leader of the Conservative Party, who of course The Free Press could hardly be expected to approve of. Although Right Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King says in effect that he has made Canada an independent nation, The Free Press is not satisfied with that achievement. There are still a considerable number of strings attached to Canada to the Empire, and these strings must be cut before The Free Press will consider Canada a completely independent nation.

One of the things The Free Press finds fault with almost daily is the Canadian constitution. The editor of The Free Press maintains that the independence of Canada will be limited as long as the Parliament of Canada has not the power to alter the terms of the British North America Act. Then there is the power of appealing cases to the Judicial Committee of the Imperial Privy Council and the right of Canadian Governments to appoint eminent Canadians as Governors-General instead of leaving such appointments in the hands of the King in Council. Finally Canada's independent status will not be complete until she has a flag of her own. Apparently The Free Press will never be happy until those grievances are redressed and Canadian sovereignty completely established.

For a time it appeared as if the political aspirations of the eminent Manitoba apostle of liberty were based upon the proclaimed constitutional principles of the almost equally eminent Premier Hertzog, of South Africa. The Free Press must therefore have been very much annoyed when it learned through its own news columns that Premier Hertzog was strongly opposed to any change in the system of appointing Governors-General, that the South African Premier thought the present system was the best that could be devised, because no South African could be selected for the position of Governor-General who would not be disqualified for fair and unbiased discharge of his duties by reason of his political affiliations and prejudices.

But The Free Press will never be at a loss for something to find fault with. A few weeks ago when all his other grievances had been discussed to the point of exhaustion, the editor found that there was something wrong with the maps used in our schools and in the system of teaching geography. Flat maps created false impressions upon the minds of the students. Globes should be used because they gave correct impressions as to distances, and probably because they proved Winnipeg to be on the top or in the centre of the world.

Turning from the left-hand columns of The Free Press is like passing from a region of perpetual gloom to a place where the sun never suffers an eclipse. "A Reader's Notes" and "The Passing Word" are always worth reading. In the issue before us "T.B.R." who does an interesting but fanciful picture of "R.B.D." a week or so ago, has a brilliant article on the life and times of the late Prince von Bulow, a subject which was not adequately dealt with by any other Canadian newspaper. If space permitted, we should like to print the article in full, but we shall have to be content with reproduction of this part of it.

"Bulow," as he is called, took office at one of the great turning points in European history. Bismarck had carried his eighty years of age, his passions, and his hatred into the woods of Friedland, and the Empire he had founded had already swept forward beyond his comprehension. I am stirred, I am moved, yes, this is a new age, a new world, the old Titan had muttered as he stood on the deck of one of Ballin's great Hamburg-American liners, and looked at the shipping which filled the Hamburg harbor. It was to the new world—of giant ships, of giant armies, of giant finance, that Bulow advanced, with his suave diplomatic ability, and with the greatest brilliance and firmness took all the wrong turns, made all the wrong decisions, and after ten years had Imperial Germany nicely poised on the brink of the precipice down which presently she was to thunder and destroy herself, and whose political system and tradition as well for good measure."

THE ARMISTICE PERIOD

Sir,—The Armistice Period Committee desire me, on their behalf, to thank you, and through you, all those of their fellow citizens who, by aiding in the work of their campaign or by buying and wearing poppies, made such a success of their Poppy Day appeal for funds for the relief of the dependents of the fallen of those of their comrades who are suffering as the result of their wounds or privations in the Great War.

But, in offering our sincere thanks, we are pardoned if we urge that the feelings of gratitude and sympathy called forth by the anniversary of the Armistice should not again be exploited for appeals for any other object, no matter how worthy a nature that object may be.

The campaign for funds for building a home for the blind, whether in Vancouver or elsewhere, must at any time have appealed to the sympathy of all right-thinking people. But we feel that it need not have been carried on during the week that for many years past has been devoted to the purpose of relieving those who saved us from the agony and ruin which defeat in 1918 would have involved; nor, in our opinion, should special services be held to commemorate Armistice Day, at which people are asked to contribute their offerings to any other cause than that of the returned men themselves.

As the years go by the effect of these years in the ever-sudden trenches, with the din of artillery unceasing by day or night, and death and mutilation on every side, is having, and must have, an ever-increasing effect upon the vitality of those who passed through them. It will constitute an ever-increasing demand upon our sympathy and our efforts to relieve the necessities of those men, and their dependents, to whom our country owes so deep a debt.

MR. RAMSAY MACDONALD AND THE EMPIRE

Sir,—I wish to congratulate Mr. F. G. Bourne for his letter in your issue of the 9th. If ever there was a time in the history of the British Empire when plain speaking and common sense were desirable it is right now; but it takes courage to shatter the idols of fanatics and their unthinking and short-memory followers.

In Empire affairs, the British people and the people of alien birth living in our Empire might roughly be classified into three groups: 1. Those who wish to make our Empire stronger, better, a power for good and a blessing to the world at large. They who cherish the deeds of our heroes, who preserve their best ideals and traditions and hand them down to future generations. 2. Those who are indifferent to the growth, unity and influence of the Empire in world affairs and are content to let it drift towards disintegration and impotence in world affairs.

This class may be subdivided into the following: (a) The naturally indolent and indifferent.

(b) The intellectual fanatics, peace-at-any-price advocates and some professional politicians.

(c) Part of the great democracy who have no next to nothing of our great Empire, its problems, its needs, and are ignorant of its historical and geographical facts.

These have votes; but how many of them have the ability to do anything for the Empire? They are the "free traders" who in practice is not free trade but only free imports. The imposition of moderate customs duties in Britain would enable her to give a preference to the other parts of the Empire and foster a better feeling and intercourse. It would, perhaps, force other countries to make concessions in trade policy in order to get reciprocal concessions.

The Ramsay MacDonald Government will not agree to this, although J. H. Thomas is aggrieved that Canada does not buy more from Britain than she does.

The way to get greater Empire trade is to make it worth while. Sentiment alone is not sufficient. More power to Lord Beaverbrook in his crusade. All honor to the memory of the late Joseph Chamberlain.

BEAUTIFYING GROUNDS

Sir,—I note with a deal of pleasure that the newly created strip of garden or flower bed lying parallel to the side wall of Yates Street and adjoining the playground of the Girls' Central School is being prepared and possibly planted ready for next Spring.

After visiting several other cities and towns I feel that we Victorians can well be proud of the well kept facades of most of our schools, particularly those erected since 1918. The carefully attended flower bed and in some instances lawns in front of several of our schools without doubt constitutes in no small degree to the pleasing aspect of our city beautiful.

When we look upon the beautiful grounds in front of the Normal School (Provincial Government), Victoria High, Girls' Central and, to a lesser degree, Margaret Jenkins, Quindra, Quadra Primary, Burnside, Sir James Douglas and other schools, we are reminded in the war that the school board through, in most cases, the careful attention of the janitors,

Jots From Geography

Mount Asiniboine, in the Canadian Rockies, is familiarly known as the Matterhorn of American mountains. Its icy apex is over two miles above sea level. At its feet is a landscape of rare beauty which adds to the grandeur of Asiniboine. In 1901 a successful attempt was made to scale its summit.

and that conscription was truly a democratic political colleague, Mr. J. H. Thomas, talked about a revolution.

According to informed and unprejudiced men like the late Mr. Roosevelt, British rule in Egypt, the Sudan and India has been a blessing to those countries, but Ramsay MacDonald's Government seems bent on hurrying on the process of disintegration of our Empire, that has been slowly going on for some considerable time, by his policy in those parts of the Empire.

Not long ago Ramsay MacDonald paid a visit to Germany and made a speech in the Reichstag in which he made excuses for Germany's course in declaring war. Now we read the great and warlike German Nationalist party declaring that the country shall cease to make reparation payments. They have demanded that a plebiscite shall be taken on the question. If they get a majority, what will Ramsay MacDonald do? Will he let Germany break another treaty and make Britain and her allies pay the cost?

Apart from its self-advertising purposes and effects, Ramsay MacDonald's visit to Washington and New York may have done a little good in bringing home to the American people the fact which we British well know and have proven: that we want to have the friendliest relations with them and all the rest of the world, but it does not appear that any understanding has been arrived at which will overcome the difference in opinion on the question of what our American friends choose to call the "freedom of the seas."

If we assume that all nations who have signed the peace pact, renouncing war, are sincere, then why should the United States wish to lead in war time with any power who breaks the pact? The British people will never break that pact, but if it is broken by some other power, the United States seems to think possible, the British policy of cutting off supplies of food and ammunition to the offender would seem to be a better way to terminate hostilities than by supplying them incidentally at a profit, with the wherewithal to carry on the fight.

If Ramsay MacDonald can get our American friends to agree to the British position on this subject he will do some good and a very great deal towards maintaining the peace of the world. So far it does not appear that his visit will bring about that result, and if it does not, his mission will not have accomplished much.

In 1914 Britain could have enforced peace if she had been prepared for war on a large scale. If she had possessed a fairly large army and been well equipped with artillery and ammunition factories. She was not prepared for war, nor the British Dominions either; consequently the more Sir Edward Grey spent both time and money for the peace, the more the Germans felt convinced that men like Ramsay MacDonald, Lord Morley, J. H. Thomas and others would give Germany a free hand to impose their military rule on the rest of Europe, Africa, Asia and Australasia.

Can we afford to ignore the lessons of history? What this Empire needs at the present time more than anything else in trade matters, is the renunciation of the British fetish of so-called "free trade," which in practice is not free trade but only free imports. The imposition of moderate customs duties in Britain would enable her to give a preference to the other parts of the Empire and foster a better feeling and intercourse. It would, perhaps, force other countries to make concessions in trade policy in order to get reciprocal concessions.

The Ramsay MacDonald Government will not agree to this, although J. H. Thomas is aggrieved that Canada does not buy more from Britain than she does.

The way to get greater Empire trade is to make it worth while. Sentiment alone is not sufficient. More power to Lord Beaverbrook in his crusade. All honor to the memory of the late Joseph Chamberlain.

MEETING OF GROWERS IS OPTIMISTIC

City Co-operative Tomato Growers Report Good Year and Favorable Prospects for Future

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR COMING YEAR

Optimism was the keynote of the addresses and discussions at the annual meeting and banquet of the Capital City Co-operative Tomato Growers' Association, which took place at the Hotel Douglas last night. The 1929 season had been a most profitable one for the growers in the organization, it was stated, and from the reports of forecasts for the coming year made at the meeting, better results than ever are looked for in 1930. Principal speakers included President T. B. Dempster, C. R. Asher, of the Triangle Fertilizer Company, New Westminster; Milton Oppenheimer, representing Oppenheimer Brothers; Fraser Wood, Limited, Vancouver, who handled the crop for the association, and J. R. McIntyre, the local representative of the brokers.

Mr. Asher spoke on greenhouse fertilization, which presented numerous problems. His firm had been making a study of it for the past year or two on account of the great increase in the growing of tomatoes and other vegetables under glass. There were entirely different problems in the greenhouse from those found in connection with field growing. In their work they had been assisted by the Dominion Government Stations, and as a result of much research on their own part, were now ready to distribute a fertilizer which they hoped would accomplish the end desired. Some local growers would not stand long distance shipping, a circumstance which he attributed to possible excessive enrichment of the soil. With their new fertilizer, he thought this detriment to marketing the fruit at long distance would be overcome. It was to be tried locally and was expected to grow fruit which would stand shipment to considerable distances.

CO-OPERATION AND PRICES

President Dempster reported that the association had received better prices in 1929 than ever before, there had been better co-operation among the growers, and he was looking forward to the time when, instead of three growers' associations in Victoria there would be only one. Markets were supplied in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and two carloads had been forwarded to Ontario, where they arrived in excellent condition. He stressed, as did also Messrs. Oppenheimer and McIntyre, the value of good packing which was always the secret of ready selling. Both of the latter speakers telling of marketing conditions for the benefit of the growers present. The president paid a tribute to Messrs. Skelton and Parkin for the success of the banquet.

The secretary's report for the year corroborated the statements of the president, and Treasurer Parkin's report showed a balance in the bank to the credit of the association of $180, the auditor, Mr. A. J. Osborne, testifying to the correctness of the accounts.

While the officers for 1930 were being selected, Mr. Oppenheimer was requested to take the chair, Mr. Dempster asking the meeting, as he had already served three years as president, to choose someone else. It was the unanimous desire of the meeting that he should stand again. He was re-elected, as were the vice-president, P. A. Cochran; the secretary, T. J. Skelton, and the treasurer, B. Parkin. The three directors chosen were G. J. Wright, G. Jones and Lim Bang, and for auditors, A. J. Osborne, re-elected, with W. F. Emery.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonard found the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. He tried it in 1,000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 96 per cent, and then decided it should be sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

SIR PERCY LAKE IS LIFE MEMBER

Pro Patria Branch Honors Past President of Canadian Legion With Recognition

Recognition of the great service rendered to the veterans of Canada by Lieut.-Gen. Sir Percy Lake, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., past president of the national command of the Canadian Legion, and chairman of the Armistice Period Committee, was given by Pro Patria branch last night at its general meeting. It was resolved to make the distinguished comrade a life member of the branch.

The work of General Lake was referred to in grateful terms, and President Gill voiced the feeling of the meeting when he said the highest honor in the gift of the Legion was inadequate to express the comrades' appreciation for the work performed by Sir Percy Lake.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the band of the 5th Coast Brigade Canadian Artillery for services rendered in connection with the Armistice memorial parade and service.

TABLE MOTION TO CONFER ON LIBRARY ISSUE

Adjustment Section of Municipal Act Invoked to Settle Account Between City and Saanich

MARCHANT PLAN TO BE CONSIDERED

A resolution, moved by Alderman William Marchant, that "the City Council hereby requests and authorizes the Mayor to negotiate a settlement with the Reeve of Saanich Municipality of the library account owing by Saanich to Victoria, in accordance with Section 456 of the Municipal Act, and report thereon as early as possible," was laid on the table last night by the City Council for one week.

The matter was first raised by the reading of the following letter from the Victoria Public Library trustees:

"Victoria, November 6.
"To the Mayor and Council of the City of Victoria.
"Gentlemen,—The Municipal Council of Saanich having refused a settlement of its account for library services for the first five months of this year, the Public Library Board of Trustees, by resolution at its last meeting, instructed me to lay before you their request that action be taken by you in accordance with Section 456 of the Municipal Act. The indebtedness is $1,225.32.
"The necessary papers, correspondence, minutes, etc., are available for you at any time.
"I have the honor to be, yours faithfully,
"ROBERT CONNELL,
"Chairman, Board of Trustees of the Victoria Public Library."

SECTION 456

Section 456 of the Municipal Act is as follows:

"All questions arising between municipalities shall, except where otherwise in this Act specially provided, be decided by the Mayors and Reeves of such municipalities, respectively, or, in case they cannot agree, by a Judge of the Supreme Court, whose decision shall be final."
In moving his motion, Alderman Marchant briefly reviewed the history of the library question, and stated that the Board of Trustees of the Victoria Public Library were unable to effect a settlement with Saanich. He urged that the Mayor be authorized to endeavor to reach a settlement with Reeve Crouch of Saanich on the matter.

The motion was seconded by Alderman J. A. Worthington.
Mayor Anson said he was uncertain if a settlement reached by the Reeve and himself would be binding. He wanted to know, if such a settlement were made, whether it would have to be approved by the respective city and Saanich councils. Alderman Strath's motion that the Marchant resolution be tabled for one week was carried. The legal aspects of the finality of a decision reached by the heads of the two municipalities will be investigated.

Betty was a sweet girl. She was reading a book that gave the meaning of names. Her mother was watching her, and thinking of all the young men who were attached to her. "Mother," said Betty, "it says Philip means lover of horses, and James beloved. Mother, what does George mean, I wonder?" "I hope, my dear," said her mother, "that George means business!"

B.C. LUMBERMAN STILL MISSING

No Clue to Whereabouts of Mr. Thomas Gittins Has Yet Been Discovered by Police

SEATTLE, Nov. 12.—No clue to the whereabouts of Mr. Thomas Gittins, sixty-three, well-known lumberman in Washington and British Columbia, who has been missing since October 18, had been found late today by Seattle, Victoria or Vancouver police.

An international search for the Seattle man who was last seen in Vancouver, began yesterday, when his wife reported that her last word from him was in a letter dated October 18. She said that up to that time he was very attentive to his family and wrote almost every day when he was on trip.

Provincial police went to Clayoquot, on the West Coast of Vancouver Island last night, hoping to find M. G. Thomas, former legislator, of Stanwood, Wash., whose letter, dissolving a partnership with Mr. Gittins in a proposed logging venture, was forwarded here from Victoria, where it had been claimed by the missing man.

The missing man had several hundred dollars with him when he left here, his wife said. A report that his body was found at Port Angeles last night proved false when the body was identified as that of Edward Jacobs, of Vancouver.

Alert Bay W.A.

The various branches of Christ Church W.A. Alert Bay, held their annual sale of work in the Parish Hall on Saturday. The rector, Mr. C. K. K. Prosser, declared the sale open. The hall was prettily decorated, each booth being dressed in a different color. The tea room was under the management of Mrs. I. D. Woods. Just below the stage was a "beauty stall," in purple and silver, where the girls' branch, under the leadership of Mrs. Emily Cook, did a thriving business. Mrs. C. K. K. Prosser and Mrs. H. Fiddcock had the needlework stall. The Indian W.A. had a very busy afternoon both with their knitted and embroidered goods and Indian baskets and curios. The fish pond, which is undertaken each year by the juniors, did good business under the management of Mrs. Milen and Miss Haddon. Mrs. George Myers had the fruit and flower stall. The art stall well lived up to its name; the success of this stall was due to Miss Dibley and Miss R. Long. The candy stall was under the management of Miss Meakin, and the home cooking under Mrs. J. Ward and Mrs. Kemmure. The tea cream stall was in the hands of Mr. Gow. The day closed with the movie picture, "The King of Kings," when the hall was filled to capacity.

Somenos W.A.

A most successful sale of work was held under the auspices of St. Mary's W.A. Somenos, on Wednesday afternoon, in the I.O.O.F. Hall, Duncan. There were more people present than usual and a brisk business was carried on all afternoon. The tea committee was very busy and the work stall was exceptionally good. The conveners of the various booths were Work stall, Mrs. J. Moon and Mrs. G. V. Hopkins; home cooking, Mrs. A. Goddard and Mrs. A. J. White; jumble stall, Mrs. G. A. Jewelry in Two Colors and colorful jewelry. As might be expected, individuals feature certain types which all in all offer a wide choice in suiting the jewelry to the costume.

Both Patou and Chanel look with favor on the combination of two colors in necklaces, the latter showing much colored glass jewelry with her models. These glass beads are in long triple strands as shown at the top of the sketch, in which particular instance the two outer strands are of dark blue and the centre strand bright red. Black with red or yellow is another color combination.

Chanel likewise combines multi-color clusters with pearls, which is something of a novelty.

A unique evening effect is a hair bandeau of silver roses worn across the base of the neck and matching a choker of silver roses.

For day wear Chanel favors gold and silver metal pieces.

Patou's jewelry takes to color, with such results as may be seen in the necklace below, namely, rice beads in black and yellow, blue and red combination, or grey with rose.

Ropes of thick colored cord, striking evening bracelets and necklaces of frosted and smoked crystal are the latest contribution to jewelry of the season. In color motifs, for daytime costumes and chokers of rhinestones combined with onyx or crystal for evening.

FOUR HUNDRED AT ANNUAL TEA

AUTUMN FUNCTION OF WOMEN'S CANADIAN CLUB HELD AT EMPRESS

Lieutenant-Governor Speaks — Attractive Programme of Music and Dancing

Nearly four hundred members and guests attended the annual Autumn tea and social of the Women's Canadian Club, held yesterday afternoon at the Empress Hotel. Presided over by the president, Mrs. P. B. Scurrell, the gathering included among its guests, Hon. R. B. Bruce and Mrs. Bruce, and Mrs. S. F. Tolmie, who were accorded a special welcome. A delightful programme of music, dancing and recitations preceded tea, with a number of very brief speeches interspersed.

Among the speakers was His Honor, who expressed his great pleasure in being present and having the opportunity of expressing appreciation of the splendid work being done by the Women's Canadian Club. They had made a unique record for themselves in their publication last year of the book telling about the pioneer women of Vancouver Island, and one of the red-letter days in the history of Government House during his term of office was that on which they had entertained, at the request of the Women's Canadian Club, the pioneer ladies mentioned in that book who were still living. Mrs. Scurrell announced the names of some of the forthcoming speakers to be entertained by the club: On November 26, Dean Bollett, of the University of British Columbia, who was a delegate to the confederation of University Women's Clubs at Geneva last Summer; Lady Clare Annesley, a member of the British Labor party, who will speak on "Britain's Foreign Policy," at the first December meeting of the club, and on December 12, Mr. Graham Spry, national secretary of Canadian clubs. In welcoming back Mrs. W. G. Wilson, after her several months' absence in Europe, Mrs. Scurrell announced that the club hoped to have the pleasure of an address by her at the first January meeting.

Members' attention was called to the five hundred remaining copies of "Pioneer Women of Vancouver Island" still unsold, and suggested the suitability of the book for gift purposes. She also expressed thanks to the committee which had represented the Women's Canadian Club in the campaign for the National Institute for the Blind: Mrs. C. W. Bradshaw (captain), and Mesdames J. W. Gibson, Lester Patrick, W. P. Pinfold, Saxton, White, George McCavish, T. Hammond and D. B. McConnan.

THE PROGRAMME

The programme was varied and diverting, and the artists were all enthusiastically applauded. Those taking part were Miss Audrey Wood, L.A.B., who played with great finesse a ballade by Orleg; Master Ted Cotton, pupil of the B.C. Dramatic School, who recited with fine expression, Gerald Woods' "The Wanderer," and Sir Henry Newbolt's "The Torch of Life"; Miss Dorothy Parsons, possessor of a pleasing soprano voice, who sang "Valley of Laughter" and "A Good Child"; and the following little pupils of Mrs. Wilson, the Russian School of Dancing, Rosemary Parrow and Ian Gibson, small children, who danced a gavotte in period costume very daintily; and Phyllis Addison, who had a very pretty ballet style. The programme was arranged by Mrs. W. Ellis, and Mrs. Paul Olsen played the accompaniments. Mrs. W. G. Wilson expressed the club's thanks to all the artists, and to the Lieutenant-Governor for honoring the occasion by his attendance.

The hall was charmingly arranged for the occasion with as informal an effect as possible, so that the guests could enjoy the programme while having tea. At the head table, which was lighted with blue candles and very attractively decorated with a big bowl of single lemon-colored chrysanthemums and blue cinerarias, and tiny silver vases filled with gold button chrysanthemums.

On the night of November 9, the Mahon Hall, Ganges, was the scene of the hard times dance, voted one of the most enjoyable that had ever taken place on Salt Spring. It was sponsored by Mr. Tweedhope and Mr. L. Peterson, ably assisted throughout by Haggie's hobo orchestra. Dancing started promptly at 9 o'clock and was continued on till 3 o'clock and up till the strains of the home waits, there was not a dull moment. The floor was crowded with a capacity for every dance, and the evening was very numerous.

Many of the dancers were dressed in fantastic and novel costumes, which showed that considerable time and ingenuity had been spent in obtaining the desired results. The latest fashions were paraded for the benefit of the spectators, burlesque and principal material used. Several of the elaborate dresses bore the trade-mark of well-known brands of farm produce.

During the evening, prizes were awarded for the best hobo and the most dilapidated tramp, as follows: First prize for best hobo (lady), Mrs. Walter James; second prize for best lady, Mrs. J. Vye; first prize for best g. man, Mr. W. P. Evans; second, Mr. Sullivan, chief engineer of Ss. Otter. Prizes were also awarded to Misses Gladys Borsdale, Edna Morris and Messrs. J. N. Rogers and Ted Borradaile. First prize for balloon wait was awarded to Miss G. Forbes; there were several others. On every prize distributed a tag with an original verse was attached; this was read out before presentation, causing considerable mirth, and more often than not the recipient had to stand a great deal of banter and chaff from the crowd. The decorations of the hall were unique, streamers of old tin cans were hung across the hall intermingled with streamers cut from old newspapers. On the stage, beside the orchestra, a jungle fire was burning with a chicken hanging on a stake, and the proper atmosphere of the hobo's camp was produced by a washing of old clothes hanging on the line above the fire.

At the conclusion of the dance a hearty vote of thanks was given Mrs. Tweedhope and her helpers for the splendid time enjoyed and wishes expressed for an early repetition. The proceeds, after expenses are paid, will be passed over to the Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital, and it is expected a substantial sum will be forthcoming for this worthy institution.

The "Luxury" of a Clay Pack
By Edna Wallace Hopper

Do you regard a clay pack as one of those delightful inventions for those who can pay to look young? When your own face seems to sag, looks sallow and tired do you simply accept it as "one of those things"?

All it needs is care. A tired skin can be remarkably refreshed by my simple clay pack.

Get a tube of Edna Wallace Hopper's White Youth Clay and apply it as directed. When you wash it off the gentle, purging action of the clay leaves a pleasant afterglow. The pores are freed of tiny, blemishing clots of dirt which become imbedded and, particularly in oily skins, form blackheads. Your face is thoroughly freed from these obstructions and the pores can function normally. The clay also is an astringent, leaving the pores closed, the skin clear.

My White Youth Clay is the only product of its kind which I know. It is dainty and agreeable to use. Get it at any toilet counter, in several sizes.

Thanksgiving Supper At St. Mark's Hall

The largest crowd that has packed St. Mark's Hall in many years gathered round the festive board on Monday night at the supper-dance prepared by the ladies of the W.A. of St. Mark's Church, Cloverdale, to celebrate Armistice and Thanksgiving Day. Poppies, emblematic of the special occasion and chrysanthemums were used in decoration of the tables. Rev. O. L. Jull, vicar of the parish presided, and said that a word of praise was due Mrs. W. H. Fisher, president of the W.A., and her committee of ladies who worked so energetically to make the supper-dance a success.

Following the supper a concert was held, commencing with a selection by St. Mark's orchestra, under the leadership of Mrs. Jull, A.T.O.M.; vocal solo, Mrs. Discomb, "A Little Bit of Heaven"; violin solo, Mrs. Ruby Moore; recitation, Miss Ethel Clarke; violin solo, Master Roy Falkner; vocal solo, Mr. A. J. Clarke; step dance, Miss Phyllis Butts; instrumental selection, Masters Porter; piano and violin accompaniment, Mrs. Jull; selection by the orchestra.

During the evening Messrs. Fisher and Prentice spoke briefly on the satisfactory progress St. Mark's Church was making under the present vicar. A pleasing interlude witnessed the presentation of beautiful bouquets to Mesdames Goodwin and Graham, who for over thirteen years had been connected with St. Mark's parish and had always worked for the good of the church.

Dancing and cards followed, and the happy crowd broke up shortly after midnight. Miss Thain played the accompaniments to the dancing.

STUDENT GETS
"SCHOLARSHIP"MR. C. ARMSTRONG PRESENTED WITH KIWANIS PRIZE AT CLUB MEETINGDr. S. J. Willis, Superintendent of Education, Prizes Winner for His Scholarship Work at College

Mr. Charles Armstrong, president of the Victoria College Students' Council, was yesterday presented with the Kiwanis scholarship of $100 at the luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club in the Empress Hotel.

Kiwanian Dr. S. J. Willis, superintendent of education for British Columbia, in making the presentation, stated that the Kiwanis Club each year gave a scholarship to some worthy student of Victoria College who is working his own way through college, and who is making a success of it.

The speaker said the Kiwanis Club had given its first scholarship in 1920, and that the winners of the prize including and since that year had all equipped themselves notably in their university work and the professions and business in which they had later entered.

"The list of winners of the scholarship is as follows: 1920-21, Mr. Leslie Howlett; 1921-22, Mr. Guy Waddington; 1922-23, Mr. Allan Hemmingsway; 1923-24, Mr. Harold Blackett; 1924-25, Mr. Robert Pettie; 1925-26, Mr. David Le Page; 1926-27, Mr. Donald S. Watson; 1927-28, Mr. Reginald Hammond."

"The interest of 100 business and professional men in the success of a young boy means a lot to him, and will stimulate him to do great work," Dr. Willis declared.

Dr. Willis spoke highly of Mr. Armstrong's work both at High School and at Victoria College. "He passed his matriculation examinations with 88 per cent, and has passed his first year in arts with 88 per cent."

Mr. Armstrong thanked the Kiwanis Club for honoring him by making him the recipient of the scholarship. "This will be an encouragement to higher attainment, and I hope I maintain the high standard of previous winners of the scholarship," he said, amid applause.

Enjoyable vocal solos were rendered by Mr. Frank Smedley, with Mr. Alfred Gurney playing the piano accompaniment.

SPOTS OF HUMOR
MARK CAMPAIGNSome Amusing Incidents in Nova Scotia Battle Preceding Vote
on Liquor Control

HALIFAX, Nov. 12.—The smoke and dust of the battle to death between the "wets" and the "drys" in Nova Scotia has at last cleared away, leaving Prince Edward Island the only province to wave the banner of prohibition. Once again neighbors are greeting each other with a cheery "good morning," instead of passing each other in surly silence, for they take their politics seriously in Nova Scotia, and now the main topic for excitement is the outcome of this winter's play in the National Hockey League.

But strenuous as was the fight, there were high spots of humor in it. One was the statement of a very well-known criminal lawyer, who took both wets and drys by storm when he announced that he was going to work and vote for the Nova Scotia Temperance Act, because, if a Government control measure were passed, the city in which he lived would lose some $24,000 a year in fines and because, when he wanted a drink, he could get it, N.S.T.A. or no N.S.T.A.

Another concern of the little settlement of Soler Island, just outside Halifax Harbor. There are precisely thirty-nine voters on the island, and they voted exactly thirty-nine votes for Government control. "What's in a name?"

And then there was the bootlegger in one of the larger towns of Nova Scotia, who, on the morning following the prebuclic hung on his front door a large bow of black crepe.

Deputy returning officers state that it was not always easy to determine exactly what a voter wished from the way he marked his ballot. There is more than one case on record where voters marked their crosses beneath both "Yes" and "No" on the question, "Are you in favor of retaining the Nova Scotia Temperance Act?"

"The best of all is told on a farmer who was a violent dry. On polling day, the wet was sick, and could not vote. Grief was the bitterness in his heart when he heard the result of the poll alone-to vote wet. But the bitterness was somewhat assuaged when he returned and told her that he had arranged everything so that the result would be the same as if she had voted.

"But how did you do that?" she asked.

"I voted both 'yes' and 'no' on both questions," he replied with a triumphant smile.

It is discovered that 1920-281 wives work for wages in the United States. How many of them support husbands in the style to which they have been accustomed, the figures do not reveal.

"My wife never listens to me," complained a newly married man.

"Don't let that worry you, man," said the older one. "Mine did once and I got it in the neck."

"How was that?"

"I was talking in his sleep."

A Scots footballer who played for a small English team was arrested for striking a spectator after a match. The magistrate who heard the case was one of those smart men who like to raise a laugh. "Why did you do this?" he asked the accused.

"Well, sir," said the aggrieved player, "how would you like to be called a 'Scotch dog'?"

"But I'm not Scotch," observed the magistrate, who happened to have a Welsh name.

"Well, sir, suppose he'd called you a 'Welsh dog'?"

"But I'm not Welsh," said the magistrate, amid laughter.

"Well, sir," proceeded the accused, "suppose he'd called you the kind of dog you are?"

RECORD SCORE BELIEVED MADE IN CRIB GAME

George Simpson and E. B. McLeod Pile Up Seventy-Five Points in One Deal at Pacific Club Tourney

REMARKABLE HANDS HELD BY PLAYERS

Playing in the Harry Maynard Cribbage Club tournament at the Pacific Club last evening, George Simpson and E. B. McLeod, scored what is considered to be a record in one deal. Simpson made the remarkable score of 42 and McLeod 33 points. Each held identically the same hands but, of course, in different suits.

Simpson held the six of hearts, six of clubs, four of spades and five of spades. McLeod held the six of spades, six of diamonds, four of hearts and five of spades. The turn-up was the five of diamonds, making each hand the value of 24. It was Simpson's crib, but, of course, he netted three points.

McLeod led with a six. Simpson paired it with another six for two points. McLeod followed with another six for six points, and Simpson followed with another six for twelve points. McLeod then led a four for one point for game. Simpson then led a five spot and McLeod paired it for two points. Simpson followed with the remaining four for one point. Thus Simpson pegged fifteen points and McLeod nine points for a total of seventy-five points in one deal. The referees were C. Hickman and H. Cannon.

DOO-DADS WIN FROM BAPTISTS

Island Intermediate "B" Sunday School Game Champs Take First Game of Season, 33-18

The classy Doo-Dads, Intermediate "B" Island Sunday School champions, started the defence of their title in the right manner last night at the P. J. Ryan gymnasium, when they defeated the Douglas Street Baptist Church Bluebirds, 33-18.

Although outclassed the Bluebirds fought a game battle, but could not cope with the splendid teamwork of their opponents. The score at halftime was 22-6 in favor of the winners.

Jack Caddell, of the Doo-Dads, led the scorers with fourteen points to his credit, while Johnson with six and Robertson with seven played fine games. MacDonald was the star for the Baptists with ten points opposite his name. "Red" Martin refereed and the teams were as follows:

Doo-Dads—Brown (10), Caddell (14), Johnson (6), Robertson (7), McKenzie (4), D. Tyson (2), P. Tyson, H. Tyson, H. Hetherington (4), Cooper (2), MacDonald (10).

EMIL MEUSEL TO SERVE AS SECOND COACH TO GIANTS

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Emil F. Meusel, one-time star left-fielder with the Phillies and the Giants, signed today to serve as second coach for the Cleveland Indians.

Meusel, teammate of Meusel at Philadelphia and New York, and later manager of the Boston Braves for four years, recently came to terms with John McGraw to act as first coach.

GOLDBERG EASILY OUTPOINTS DUNDIE

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—George Goldberg, Brownsville lightweight, won an easy decision over the veteran Johnny Dundie in the main ten-round bout at the Broadway Arena in Brooklyn tonight. Goldberg outpointed the former featherweight and junior lightweight champion in every round.

Keep Right Arm Close to Side

One of the leading pro players of the United States, a star who has won many national titles here and abroad, advises no one to take his club back as he does. Another slightly lesser luminary has the same bad fault in his backswing.

The fault they decry is the loose way they use the right arm in taking the club back. They bend it outward (to the right) at the elbow as they swing back. By dint of long practice they have been able to overcome the fault this leads to—loss of control on downswing.

Keep the right arm in close to the right side. The natural grip and the natural swing forward of the right arm from its natural hang at the right side to take this grip is almost certain ways to prevent your falling into this error.

Next—Pertinent points in the backswing.

Roughriders Will Not Come to Coast To Play Vancouver

VANCOUVER, B.C., Nov. 12.—Vancouver will not entertain Regina Roughriders, declared champions of the Western Canada Rugby Union at the annual meeting of that body Monday. This was decided upon tonight by the executive of the British Columbia Rugby Union after reading press dispatches to the effect that the Western Canada Rugby Union title had been granted to the Roughriders.

British Columbia officials are a little disappointed at the ruling of the meeting in Regina Monday. A letter received from A. C. Dowd, of Winnipeg, secretary of the Western Canada Rugby Union, stated that he and the president of the union would press for the finals here for the championship.

PARK RANGERS AND LADYSMITH CAPTURE MID-ISLAND SOCCER

NANAIMO, Nov. 11.—In the Mid-Island League football games played last Sunday, the Park Rangers defeated the Nanaimo Lumbermen 3 goals to 1, and Ladysmith defeated the Granby aggregation on the latter's own field by a score of 6 to 0.

In the former game, both the Park Rangers and the Nanaimo Lumbermen were badly in need of points to hold their standing in the league, and the result was a hard-fought game which was witnessed by a fairly large crowd of fans.

MANY NEW PLAYERS TO APPEAR WITH BLACK HAWKS

Five Men and Pilot Added to Squad for Coming N.H.L. Fight

Art Somers to Play With Chicago Team This Season—Pair of Heavyweights Will Hold Down Defence Positions

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Chicago's Black Hawks, cellar occupants in the 1928-29 title race, are probably the most puzzling question mark of the impending National Hockey League campaign.

Major Frederick McLaughlin, wealthy Chicago sportsman, has rebuilt his team almost from the ground up with a new manager and five additional players. The new pilot and four of his latest recruits were obtained from clubs outside of the National loop. Hence their success in a generally accepted faster league is yet to be established.

Tom Shaughnessy, a Chicago attorney, who gained a reputation in amateur ranks as a hockey pilot and strategist, has taken over the Black Hawks helm. It is his first venture among the professionals. However, he will have the assistance of one of the smartest players of the game, Dick Irvin, who has captained the Hawks three times and will confine his activity to the bench this season.

Professional hockey's heaviest duo will play the defence positions for the Hawks. They are Taffy Abel, a 230-pounder, who was obtained from the New York Rangers, and Duke Dutkowsky, leading defence player of the American Association last season, who was purchased from the Kansas City Pla-Mors. Dutkowsky tops the beam at 200 pounds. They will alternate with "Cyclone" Wentworth.

SOMERS WITH SQUAD
Tommy Cook, diminutive star of last season's American Association champions, Tulsa Oilers, is a new addition for the centre position. Cook led his men in scoring last year. Another new centre is Art Somers, who topped all goal getters last season in the Pacific Coast League. Somers came from the Vancouver Lions. Vic Ripley, ace of last year's team, also is ready for action at that position.

The Hawks, too, have plenty of talent. Frank Ingram, who started last season on the St. Paul team of the American Association, has been acquired for the position. Several other players are being added. Earl Miller, "Mush" Marsh, twenty-year-old speedster, and Ty Arbour, whom Shaughnessy has named captain. Charlie Gardiner will be goalie, and will have several promising helpmates.

SOLDIER SETTLEMENT BOARD

Sir—Will you kindly correct the mistake made in my letter to The Colonist in Saturday's paper. It should have read: "That the S.S.B. was only created to find 'cushy' jobs for paroled soldiers and officers, and not to help the soldier settler."

I would like to add that we were one of the largest small fruit growers at that time. Also that the year our returns were so small was, that we had no rain to help the crop, and the fruit just dried up on the vines. Another year we left about 400 to 500 crates of lovely strawberries to rot on the plants. We were told to stop picking, as there was no sale for them. The same thing occurred to our raspberries the year we left; no sale, and hundreds of crates of fruit went to waste.

I would like some of those S.S.B. officials to go and work on these farms under the same conditions we had to put up with, and see if they could "make a go" of it. I know they couldn't, and they know it, too.

A prominent Vancouver doctor tried to take our case but the reply was: "Nothing could be done."

It is high time the S.S.B. was done away with. When are the people of this country going to realize the huge amount of money being spent to pay the officers and staff at the many headquarters, to live in luxury, while there are many hundreds of settlers who don't know how they are going to keep their families and stock through the coming winter?

When we left our farm, the S.S.B. admitted they were "very doubtful" about our place paying when we took it over, owing to the dryness of the district. Our farm was bought when the price of land was very high. I think the S.S.B. should be made to return to every soldier settler the 10 per cent purchase price, at least.

Will the kind, elderly gentleman who called at our house on Saturday morning, please send me his name and address?

A PUBLIC MARKET

Sir—Mr. Inward's letter in your morning's issue is too funny for anything, for he should know the Public Market was established as a place for the sale of home-grown produce, home-grown only, certainly not to enter into competition with our merchants, and send the goods home into the bargain. I have made some inquiries and find the market is paying very well under the able chairmanship of Alderman Harvey, but can we not see, Sir, that Mr. Inward will be appreciative enough of the wonderful service rendered by the Mayor and Council for several years past in bringing the city out of what seemed to be utter hopelessness and redness in the face by six millions of dollars in six or seven years. Sir, it could only be done by men who knew their business.

I am not a taxpayer, but I own $45,000 worth of city mortgages and I know the anxiety of aldermen in years past, and with many others I think they should be re-elected unopposed at the hands of a grateful public, for they have demonstrated their value, and to say the least nobody could do better. So let me ask the electors of Victoria to take the old advice, which is good, and don't swap horses while crossing a stream.

THE WHEAT POOL

Sir—Reading an editorial in Saturday's Colonist on the gold standard, and the keeping up of a fiction of a gold standard, I was struck with the great injustice of the charge against the Wheat Pool, and incidentally against the Prairie farmers. It is not the first time the writers for The Colonist have laid the charge against the Wheat Pool of holding up all kinds of business, causing ships to be idled out of employment, and almost empty trains.

Surely the man who wrote the article in question knows nothing about conditions on the Prairies. Well, I do, having lived and farmed there for some twenty-five years.

Stadium Planned by Toronto University

WITHIN the next four or five years Toronto will have the largest football stadium in the Dominion, according to an announcement made by T. A. Reid, secretary-treasurer of the University of Toronto Athletic Club. A new addition is to be built to link up with the old, the whole forming a horseshoe. Plans have already been prepared by Messrs. Craig & Madill, architects, in collaboration with Prof. Thomas R. Loudon, of the department of applied mechanics at the University of Toronto. The stands will be of concrete in double-decker style and will seat 35,000 fans. There will be no covered stands except where the upper tier overhangs the lower. The shaded portion in the drawing above indicates the new addition, while the unshaded portion shows the old stands which were erected in 1911 after the old stand at the southeast had proved inadequate.

The poor farmers! that they should dare to do business for themselves, and try to make their produce cover the cost of production, as for many years it did not do that, and in a great many places it will not this year. I am speaking of places in Saskatchewan, where I saw the crops threshed this year. And it is the same in other places, some better, some worse. To say there is half a crop to sell is not correct.

Then, the statement that all Canada is financing the grain growers through the producing area. I was not aware there were such philanthropists in Canada. The loss is mine, not to have met them. And I suppose there are some people (not farmers) who will believe it.

I suppose in the face of such atrocities these awful farmers have committed, if a few of them should be able to leave the land of blizzards and 40 below for a month or so in order to be allowed to land with their golden gains, or will it be that if the money was made at the expense of our fellow creatures it will be all right if it is spent in Victoria?

I am afraid I have some revengeful feelings brought to light by this article in question and would like some of these great moralists put down on a Prairie homestead. That would either make them real men and women, like those who have built up—and are building up—this wonderful country of Canada, or they would run away from it, and possibly back into the Wheat Pool.

THE ARENA FIRE

Sir—In reading the account of the arena fire in this morning's Colonist, I notice the inadequacy of the waterpower is attributed to the low pressure of the Old Bay water supply. That may be partly the cause, but as I stood and watched gallons of water spraying high in the air from a leaky hose, where it could not do any good, I made the remark that it was terrible to stand by and see people's homes burnt out, partly due to inadequate equipment. In Victoria, successful "drives" seem to be instituted for any purpose so why not have one for securing some decent hose for the fire department?

NANAIMO CAGE BIRD SHOW

Sir—As an old subscriber to The Colonist, I must admit my disappointment on being told that there was no reporter for the cage bird show at Nanaimo on November 8 and 9.

Out of an entry of twelve birds in six classes I was successful in obtaining the following awards: Six first prizes, four second prizes, two third prizes and the special prize for the best bird in the show.

After the awards were made the judge, Mr. Thomas Wilkinson, was loud in his praise and stated that they were the finest team of birds from one room that he had ever seen at a Nanaimo show.

MR. RAMSAY MACDONALD

Sir—There are several interesting parallels connected with British history which occur to me as worthy of note in connection with the recent discussion on Premier MacDonald's visit to the United States.

Mr. Lloyd George attained his position as Premier after courting unpopularity during the Boer War in South Africa. He was dubbed "pro-Boer" and barely escaped a drubbing. This, however, did not prevent him from doing some notable political fighting, and according to my estimate, saved his country as faithfully and as well as any other individual during the Great War.

Still earlier, Gladstone, the great commoner, also of Scottish descent, was far from being of the military stripe so dear to many people. Yet he succeeded in promoting the welfare of many millions of the British people, and it may be truthfully said that his influence still lives wherever the British code of laws is in working order.

Ramsay MacDonald, also a plain "Mister," is in the position of having yet to prove the metal of his statesmanship. His movements so far have not been lacking either in courage or sagacity, and in time, perhaps, it will be clear that the British character and system of government usually bring to the top the right man for the job.

The argument that Britain fought against military despotism in the Great War is scarcely all the truth, since one of the Allies, Russia, would come under that classification equally with Germany. The motive of British assistance of France against Germany was exactly a parallel of the assistance given Germany against the France of Napoleon. Self-preservation.

As to the "theories" held by Premier MacDonald, every second man in Canada and the United States probably thinks himself entitled to more pay for less work, and most probably will rejoice if the Labor or Socialist Government of Great Britain with success along that line. "Receiving more—spending more" is a widely-held pet theory, and one sometimes embraced by wily politicians on the western side of the Atlantic Ocean.

I have no hesitation in taking off my hat to your R.D. on nine points out of ten. The tenth point, in his estimate of Premier MacDonald on the strength of one episode in an eventful career.

NAVAL DISARMAMENT

Sir—There seems to be a great amount of misplaced enthusiasm with regard to Premier Ramsay MacDonald's visit, or expedition, to the United States.

Those of us who have the eye to see clearly, can only see one thing, should the impossible happen, and MacDonald and Hoover agree upon an article, or articles, to be placed before the Senate for ratification, and that is its prompt refusal to sanction anything that is not favorable to the United States.

To whom has the Old Country ever been indebted for anything? The Old Country may be said to have entrusted anyone? (MacDonald being in a minority in the House of Commons.)

J. Ramsay MacDonald.

And this is what he said in 1914: "There is no doubt whatever but that when all is over and we turn back to it in cold blood and read it (Sir Edward Grey's speech of August 3, 1914) carefully, so as to ascertain why England has practically declared war on Germany, we shall find that the only reason from beginning to end is that our Foreign Office is anti-German, and that the Admiralty was anxious to seize any opportunity of using the Navy in battle practice. Never did we arm our people and ask them to give us their lives for less good cause than this."

This speech was made at Leicester, August 16, 1914, and the best comment thereon is a silent one. "The learning up of 'scraps of paper'—solemn international pledges, and the rape of Belgium meant nothing to him who says—"I am an internationalist," and in the next breath, "If I were not fond of my country, I could not be an internationalist."

This is a new specimen—an internationalist.

To my mind, and I am sure I am not alone in this, the by-law of MacDonald to limit the navies of the two great English-speaking countries, is completely futile, and further, must arouse the suspicions of our neighbors to the south. Far better let each nation go ahead and build whatever they may think necessary, without all this humbug of "yardsticks," "parity" etc.

It is indeed fortunate that MacDonald can settle nothing as a more whole naval question is down for reconsideration next January at the formal Five-Power Naval Conference, and, although MacDonald is no doubt longing to stop every ship being built, and throw further masses into the ranks of unemployment (which, it may be noted en passant, have grown considerably since "Lalor" took the reins, although prior to the election it was to be dealt with and a solution found), yet he will doubtless be saved from himself by the very fact that France, Italy and Japan are included in the negotiations, and one cannot conceive of these countries being willing to hazard their very existence by disarming themselves to leave "Uncle Shylock," as the U.S.A. is called.

"Secret Diplomacy" has long been attacked by every twopenny penny politician in the Labor ranks, but it would be hard to find a more flagrant example than the secret meetings between MacDonald and Daves at Loozemouth, or between MacDonald and Hoover in the States. And, be it borne in mind, the subject discussed, was the one and only subject upon which the vast majority of Britishers will brook interference—the navy.

The British Navy is a vital, absolute necessity if the civilian population is to be fed in war-time—the U.S. navy is not.

We hope and pray that no damnable scheme should be concocted to rain-said that negotiations of any sort on the vital British Navy, based on one international nationalist pacifist, and the U.S.A. one hundred per cent representative gives great cause for anxiety.

SIGN MEASURE AGAIN TABLED

Proposed New Regulations Held Over for Another Week by City Council at Its Meeting

The proposed new sign by-law was laid on the table for another week last night by the City Council.

The measure was considered by the Council two weeks ago, when a deputation of members of the retail merchants section of the Chamber of Commerce were present, and voiced vigorous opposition to the by-law, claiming it was discriminatory and oppressive in its effects. The Council then laid the by-law on the table for two weeks, and gave the chamber an opportunity to furnish the Council with all data and information on the question of sign regulations.

Alderman James Adam last night suggested that the by-law be referred to the 1930 council.

Alderman Woodward moved that the measure be reconsidered, adopted and finally passed, but there was no second to the motion.

The resolution sponsored by Alderman W. T. Straith, that the by-law be tabled for one week was approved.

"So there are still Communists!" he said. "After the experience of Russia there are still Communists in this country! Well, this is so illogical that it reminds me of the permanent wave."

"Why on earth," said one girl to another, "why on earth do we call this thing a permanent wave?"

"Because," said the other girl, "once you've started waving it you have to keep on waving it permanently."

HISTORICAL SURVEY PLAN IS DEFEATED

Council Rejects Ald. Marchant's Proposal to Have City Clerk Prepare Data of City's History

SECOND MOTION ALSO REJECTED

A suggestion advanced by Alderman William Marchant that the city clerk, in conjunction with the heads of all departments, prepare, with a view to future publication, a historical survey of all departments connected with the City Council since the date of incorporation, failed to secure sufficient support to be adopted by the City Council last night.

His resolution, the alderman named the following departments as those he wished the historical survey to cover: Public works (including streets, sidewalks, roads, bridges, sewers, waterworks, etc.); legal, parks, health, market, library, buildings, lighting, fire, hospitals, and any miscellaneous data of general interest and information to the citizens.

Alderman Marchant contended that one of the best things that could be done for any city or country was the preparation of historical data concerning it. He considered interesting information could be compiled of the activities of the various councils, how the departments were created, and the powers which they had. Alderman E. S. Woodward seconded the Marchant resolution.

Alderman James Adam believed the B.C. Historical Society would be the organization to make such a compilation, if it were decided to secure such data. He didn't think it was the function of the city clerk to search through the records covering many years, and obtain such information.

CONSIDERABLE MERIT
That there was considerable merit in the proposal was the view of Alderman H. O. Litchfield, who said that a historical survey would be very valuable. He thought Alderman Marchant would be a very suitable person to collect the data.

Alderman W. T. Straith said the Council had a complete history in its minutes, and he saw no reason why a survey should be undertaken. "If you want to know when various policies were initiated, all you have to do is consult the minutes of the City Council."

The Marchant motion was defeated on a 6-4 vote.

A second resolution proposed by Alderman Marchant, was turned down. This proposal was to instruct the city treasurer to prepare a statement of all the city's loans since incorporation, showing the amounts borrowed, rate of interest, date and period of each loan, price obtained, whether such loan is still current, repaid or reborrowed in extension bonds, and the purpose for which loan was made, and further, to instruct the city clerk to publish the statement in the annual report for the year 1929.

The Marchant motion was defeated on a 6-4 vote.

Montreal Suburb City Gets Ready For Winter Snow

The city of Outremont, a suburb of Montreal, is divided into sections for plows and tractors, and sufficient equipment is assigned to each district.

Outremont has a modern snow fighting equipment which consists of three five-ton tractors, four two-ton tractors, three five-ton motor trucks equipped with snow plows, two motor-driven snow loaders and plows on sleds, fourteen single sidewalk plows, nine single snow scoops or scrapers, fourteen single snowploughs, for ice cutters (tractor drawn), one grader on sleds (four horses), eight single box-sleighs, one double box-sleighs, one double V-shaped street plough, 7,200 feet of portable snow fences and hired trucks when needed.

Last Winter the total snow fall was 103 inches, while in the Winter 1928-29 the snow fall was 122.8 inches. For the last fifty-three years McGill University reports show that the average snow fall in this locality has been 116.6 inches. Twenty-four and four-tenths miles of streets have been looked after and maintained in good condition, and also 38.7 miles of sidewalks.

The cost of snow removal for last Winter was $46,475, divided as follows: $32,730 for snow removal on streets, $13,745 for snow removal on sidewalks, $5,166 for sanding sidewalks. These amounts include depreciation and overhead charges.

As a result of public demand for more complete clearing of sidewalks and streets, the cost of snow removal has increased 40 per cent since nine years ago. The fact that only a very slight increase in these charges has been required during the last three or four years demonstrates that a satisfactory standard has been reached.

"Unlike Canada, which can absorb as many British immigrants as she can get. New Zealand is unfortunately affected by her inability to find adequate employment for the constant newcomers to the country, which seriously retards her progress as a consequence," declared F. G. Woods, general agent of the Canadian National Railways for New Zealand, who sailed recently in the Cunard liner Ascania for Europe.

New Zealand, with a population of but one and one-quarter millions, including 60,000 Maoris, is otherwise making excellent progress. The country, which principally follows agricultural pursuits, is largely indebted to her wool markets, which for the five and one-half months' period of their operations last year sold 600,000 bales at the average price of $100 per bale. The export of frozen mutton and butter form an important part of her other activities.

"Last year's exports exceeded her imports by the huge figure of $60,000,000, and, combined with her banking deposits, which exceeds $400,000,000, a highly satisfactory financial standing is assured."

Jack (over the phone)—And please post my ring back to me. Marjorie—You'd better come and get it; glass breaks so easily in the post.

Greater Depths Than Ever Plumbed at New York When Prices Make Further Dips

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Wall Street's vision of a return to normalcy in the stock market was shattered today by another spasm of desperate liquidation. Hundreds of issues plunged to new depths for the decline as the volume of trading swelled to 6,432,770 shares in the three-hour session, nearly double of yesterday's turnover.

The day's break was less drastic, however, than the losses recorded during several days of the recent selling panic.

Net losses in most leading shares ran from 2 to 20 points, but a few slightly traded issues showed spectacular drops. The decline was orderly without reappearance of demoralized conditions on the floor.

Call money held at 6 per cent and was again available at 5 1/2 to 6 in the outside market.

U.S. Steel dropped 6 3/4 points to 132 3/4, a new low for the stock, and closed at 131 1/2. The long list of shares which reached new lows for the year or longer included American Can, General Electric, General Motors, International Harvester, Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Woolworth and Eastman Kodak, losses in these issues running from about 6 to 14 points.

American Express, now seldom traded, changed hands at 205, which was 106 points below the last sale. American Telephone reached a new low for the movement at 200 1/4, and closed at 203, off 6 standard of New Jersey and Montgomery Ward lost about 4 points each and General Motors and Radio only about a point.

Foreign exchanges sagged. Sterling cables closed at 487 11/16, off 1-8 of a cent. The Canadian dollar dropped about 1-5 of a cent to near its recent low under 96.

Heavy selling of stocks again affected the bond market, sending prices down in all departments except the United States Government listings.

Armistice Commemorated By Island Communities

Large Numbers Congregate at Various Points for Services of Remembrance Held to Mark Anniversary of Ending of the Great War

COBBLE HILL, Nov. 12.—Over fifty people gathered around the War Memorial here yesterday morning on the occasion of the annual service of remembrance. After the hymn "Flight the Good Night," the flag was lowered to half-mast, the "Last Post" was sounded and the two minutes' silence was observed. The memorial prayer was then read by Rev. W. E. Cockhott, who conducted the service.

After the lesson, from the third chapter of the Book of Wisdom, the hymn "O God Our Help in Ages Past" was sung, the flag raised and the "Reveille" sounded. Short addresses were given by Mr. Cockhott and Lieut.-Col. F. Oldham. After the benediction, the service closed with the National Anthem. Mr. Ward, of Shawanigan Lake, was the bugler for the occasion. Many beautiful wreaths were afterwards laid on the memorial.

LANGFORD, Nov. 12.—A good congregation attended the Thanksgiving and Armistice Day service on Sunday in St. Matthew's Church. A sermon suitable to the occasion was preached by the vicar, Rev. A. J. Nixon.

A local company of Girl Guides paraded and attended the service.

The United Church was crowded to excess on Sunday evening. Members of the Qualicum Beach Branch of the Canadian Legion attended in force. Rev. C. Finmore conducted the service and gave a most impressive address. Comrade Douglas Shaw read the roll call, and the one-minute silence was observed. Mrs. F. Gillan sang "No Shadow's Younger," Comrade A. James, "Kind Speed the Right," and Comrade E. Sanders, "In Flanders Field." Mrs. C. A. White presiding at the organ.

Long before the appointed hour many people assembled at the Willamson Road United Church to take part in the joint service of thanksgiving which the Anglican and United Church congregations held on Armistice Day.

A two-minute silence was observed before the service which opened by the singing of the hymn "All People That on Earth Do Dwell." Rev. H. A. Ireland, pastor of the church, read the Scripture lessons, which were taken from Isaiah III, 7-10, and Luke II, 9-16. Following the reading of the lessons, Mr. W. R. Woods sang very impressively "The Deathless Army," accompanied at the organ by Miss Kinnaird.

Rev. F. Comley, vicar of St. Michael's, Royal Oak, and St. Columba, Strawberry Vale, was the preacher and took for his text I Peter III, 11, "Let him eschew evil and do good; let him seek peace and ensue it."

Following the address, special prayers were offered and the hymns "O God of Bethel, by Whose Hand," and "O God, Our Help in Ages Past" brought a service of great impressiveness to a close.

A special collection was taken, amounting to over thirty dollars, which will be forwarded to be used in the interest of the Institute for the Blind in British Columbia.

Veterans' Banquet Held at Shaenigan

SHAWNIGAN LAKE, Nov. 12.—Forty-seven ex-service men attended the veterans' annual dinner held in the S.I.A.A. Hall on November 8. Dyson, E. Woodruffe, Captain Hunt and Captain Pailin. Mr. H. Layton acted as accompanist. Mrs. J. Millard and Miss Luckovich did the catering.

SHAWNIGAN POPPY DAY
SHAWNIGAN, Nov. 12.—Colonel I. Eardley-Wilmet, for the Duncan Branch of the Canadian Legion, arranged for a collection to be made at Shaenigan Lake on Poppy Day, when three of the children acted as taggers and met with a very generous response from the public.

MEMORIAL ON MT. PREVOST DEDICATED

Impressive Ceremony
Marks Culmination of Committee in Charge of Building and Subscribers

REV. A. BISCHLAGER CONDUCTS SERVICE

SOMEONE, Nov. 12.—On Sunday a very impressive service was held on Mount Prevost at 3 o'clock, to dedicate the memorial in honor of those who fell in the Great War. The memorial cairn was built this summer through the enterprising efforts of the mountain memorial committee and the generosity of subscribers.

The lantern on top of the memorial has been flashing for the past week. This light is a 200-millimeter Ash lantern kindly loaned by the Department of Marine and Fisheries. The cairn was draped with the white ensign. There were present about one hundred persons, including members of the Canadian Legion, Girl Guides, Brownies and Boy Scouts.

Rev. A. Bischlager officiated at the service, which commenced with the singing of the National Anthem; the memorial was then unveiled and dedicated by Rev. Bischlager, followed by a minute's silence and prayer. Captain Douglas Groves read the inscription on the memorial, which was taken from the light and Mr. Monk took photographs.

MINING COMPANY HOLDS MEETING

Snow Wagon Gold Sought Held Solely by Hotel Organization—Dividends Eight Along.

It was divulged at the annual meeting of the Snow Wagon Gold Mining Company, held in the grill room of the Dominion Hotel yesterday afternoon, that it was a going concern and paying real dividends in fun and good fellowship right along to its members. The company is a subsidiary of the Southwestern Washington Hotel Association and a number of local stockholders were added to the list at the gathering yesterday.

Yearly the members of the Southwestern Washington Hotelmen's Association take a jaunt in some direction at this time of the year for the purpose of contact with other hotelmen and representatives of publicity organizations, the present tour being styled the "Olympia Peninsula Maple Leaf Caravan" starting at Olympia Sunday and concluding at Bellingham next Saturday night, where they will be the guests at the opening of the new Hotel Leopold; Stephen Jones, of the Dominion Hotel, and George Warren, of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, being also guests.

Arriving in Victoria yesterday morning from Port Angeles on the Froquois, the members of the party became the guests of the Publicity Bureau officials at the golf links, while others were taken on a sight-seeing trip about the city. At noon they were the guests of Stephen Jones at the Dominion Hotel for luncheon, where Messrs. Leonard Ker and Warren, of the Publicity Bureau, with Mr. B. C. Nicholas, addressed them. In the evening they attended a dinner at the Empress Hotel, where they were the guests of Manager T. H. Wilson, after which they were entertained at the Crystal Garden, with Manager A. E. Cowlishaw and the Chamber of Commerce as hosts.

The party comprised "Walter Spaulding, president Southwestern Washington Hotel Association; Dave Bole, manager Hotel Monticello; Longview, Carl Cooper, Pacific Beach Hotel, Pacific; Mr. and Mrs. J. "I tried different remedies but they all failed to help me. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and got relief. I continued the treatment and now I am completely healed."

Two Local Firms Remain Outside Consolidation

Four Produce Houses Operating Wholesale Connections Merge in Vancouver—Will Not Affect Local Trading Operations

Consolidation of several leading independent fruit and produce houses on the mainland with the General Fruit Corporation is reported consummated with the exception of a few minor details, but this merger will not affect any of the local firms, according to information received yesterday from the wholesale dealers.

The first report to be made from the mainland stated that a merger of Vancouver and Victoria produce firms was about to be made, but this was denied as far as Victoria was concerned, by a local wholesale official when questioned on the matter yesterday. Rumor associated the Ryan-Wilson Fruit Company and A. P. Slade & Company of this city as affected, but they have not entered the consolidation.

The Vancouver firms involved, who will figure strongly in the mainland situation, are as follows: F. R. Stewart & Company, pioneer produce firm in that city for the past thirty-five years; A. P. Slade & Company; Robert Efford & Company, and Hainsford & Company.

The action of the play takes place in a dusk behind the line of the complete cast was as follows: Stanhope, commanding the Infantry; Capt. William Coventry; Osborne, Captain Thorpe-Douglas; Trotter, Capt. A. B. Laybourn; Hibbert, Mr. Apperley; Raleigh, Mr. Roy Goldfinch; the Colonel, Colonel Barry-Smith; Mason, Mr. T. H. Laundry; Captain Haldy and the company sergeant-major, Mr. C. H. Rutherford; German prisoner, Major Cuthbert Holmes.

Major Bullock-Webster read the explanation.

"Journey's End" Is Dramatized Reading

"Journey's End," England's most popular dramatization of her part in the late war, was given at the private reading for the dramatization Monday afternoon at the Empress Hotel. The cast was one of the most nearly uniformly perfect that could have been chosen for the occasion, and the various roles were given such strong individuality that all who were present already have definite types in mind in anticipation of the production which is coming to the Royal Victoria Theatre next week. Following the reading a few selected members of the audience took part in a discussion of the play, with Rabbi Levy in the chair, after his summing up he congratulated the readers, particularly complimenting Mr. T. H. Laundry on his splendid presentation of the part of Mason, the officers' cook. The entertainment was immensely popular. Sunday was spent in hiking, the whole camp turning out and ranging over the Seven Hills, the fine clear weather permitting an uninterrupted view over the whole southern portion of the island. Every member assembled for the evening campfire again. Although up to midnight summery temperatures continued, a sharp frost developed in the later hours of the night, and in the morning the lake was found fringed with ice, while stiff little cakes of ice had formed in basins and drinking cups in which water had been left.

Camp broke about 2 o'clock on Monday afternoon, up to which time the weather had remained perfect, and the first rain was encountered only a few minutes before the home-ward trail was finished.

This is the last of the major outings of the club for the season, but there is still a half-day outing on Monday afternoon, viz., to Mount Macdonald on Saturday, November 30.

As a general principle or rule a player, if holding two suits of five or more cards of each, should show both suits before permitting partner to play the hand at No Trumps.

All rules, however, have their exceptions. There are situations in which the showing of the second suit can obviously be dispensed with. Take, for example, the situation created by the following bidding: South, pass; West, one Spade; North, pass; East, two Hearts; South, pass; West, two No Trumps. From the bidding East can visualize that, between partner and self, all four suits must be stopped at least twice, and hence, that no need exists to further clarify this situation by calling his Club suit.

SALENT POINTS OF THE BIDDING
Auction: South, passing; West bids one Spade in preference to one No Trump because of his doubleton Heart. North, passing; East with a two-suiter takes-out with two Hearts rather than No Trump. South passing; West with but two Hearts, bid two No Trumps, concluding the bidding.

Contract: The bidding is precisely the same as that given above in Auction except that East carries West's two No Trump bid to three. In neither Contract nor Auction bidding does East show his second suit. While the cards lie East can also go game at Clubs, the two No Trump is the more logical declaration to be played.

THE PLAY
North has no sound conventional opening, both of his long suits have

ALPINE CLUB CAMP IS GREAT SUCCESS

Splendid testimony to the fine climate of Vancouver Island was given by the success of the Alpine Club's Thanksgiving holiday camp at the Lake of the Seven Hills, Sooke. Two nights were spent under canvas in the beautiful little valley which, within the next year or so, will have the club hut as a permanent nucleus of what is already a very popular resort with the club members.

The week-end camp was under Mr. C. L. Harrison's direction, and fifteen members in all joined the expedition and spent two nights under canvas. The party went out on Saturday, with five pack horses to help in transporting the equipment demanded by the cooler weather, so there was ample supply of blankets. Despite the high altitude of the camp and the touch of frost, the usual bonfire gathering in the evening was immensely popular. Sunday was spent in hiking, the whole camp turning out and ranging over the Seven Hills, the fine clear weather permitting an uninterrupted view over the whole southern portion of the island. Every member assembled for the evening campfire again. Although up to midnight summery temperatures continued, a sharp frost developed in the later hours of the night, and in the morning the lake was found fringed with ice, while stiff little cakes of ice had formed in basins and drinking cups in which water had been left.

INDIAN TRIBE IN NORTH B.C. HUNTS WITCHES

Cassiar Indians Are Accused of Practising Witchcraft and Torturing Captives at Stake

FUR TRADERS DENY TRAPPERS' STORIES

EDMONTON, Alta., Nov. 11.—Degraded and degenerate, dying from diseases contracted from the whites, the Cassiar Indians, most mysterious tribe on the continent, will soon be only a memory. They live in the Cassiar country in Northern British Columbia, in the valleys and uplands of the Upper Liard River.

Wearing the white man's clothes, professing the white man's faith, and using the white man's weapons, the tribe leads a Jekyll and Hyde existence, white trappers say, for while ordinarily harmless nomads, in reality they are the only tribe in Canada practising witchcraft and addicted to profligate the wilderness gods in time of want and misfortune.

A posse of federal police penetrated their secret fastnesses in the hills four years ago and arrested men and women on charges of witchcraft and human sacrifices, with the result that medicine men named Big Alex and a squaw—a female conjuror—were given terms in jail following one of the most sensational trials in Canadian history.

Fur traders and missionaries assert that the tribesmen have reformed and are really as quiet and peaceful as they appear to be, simply hunters and shiftless reds, but trappers who live among them in the upper Liard country have a different story to tell.

AS BAD AS EVER
"They're just as bad as ever," declared Ernest Sutherland, a settler at Nelson Forks, B.C., which is on the eastern fringe of the Cassiar country. Sutherland has lived in the Liard country for years, and he understands the language, but "sure, a bunch of them were down here a few days ago," he said, "and from a few words that I overheard, I know that they still follow their old superstitions. One of the men here was a brother of Big Alex. But I hear they turned him and the squaw loose again after they had only served a few months of their time."

Because they live in the mountains of British Columbia, the Cassiars are thought to be of the same tribal origin as the Kootenais, but they are, as a matter of fact, kin of the Slaveys who inhabit all of the central lake and waterways system of the Northwest Territories.

Here is Jelle's Fork, and a canyon forty miles long, with falls and whirlpools which make travel on the upper portions of the river difficult and dangerous. Somewhere here, too, is supposed to be the legendary tropical valley for which prospectors have searched for years; here, too, are whirlpools, in one of which a boatload of six Chinese prospectors were dragged down to their doom. Scores of lives have been lost when canoes were dashed to pieces in the rocks of this canyon. Owing to the many names given the post which is the centre of the wild and remote region in which the tribesmen live there is a great deal of confusion as to the exact location of the Cassiar country.

On the maps, at the junction of the Dease and the Liard rivers, is a post called the "Lower Post." It is a Hudson's Bay Company post, and was given this name by the great company because it was too difficult to bring freight up the trail from Fort Simpson, so goods were brought in by way of the Pacific Coast from Vancouver, by steamer or tug to Telegraph Creek, British Columbia, on the Stikine River, where pack-horses took the supplies over seventy-two miles of mountain trails to Dease Lake, central point of the Cassiar gold diggings, first found by white men in the seventies, by hardy prospectors who pushed northward from the Cariboo country when their diggings there "petered out."

A wild and rough crew, the old miners, who first entered the area, and it was from them that the Cassiars contracted the diseases which are now steadily wiping out the tribe. Lacking in morals, the Cassiar women became the lawless mates of the lawless whites, and the lonely hills echoed to the wild orgies of the gold-crazed and drink-crazed miners and their savage friends. Many of the old-time miners were murdered in the hills by the reds, it is said; not for their gold, but because some embittered savage had been robbed of his squaw.

LIVE NOMADIC LIFE
Like most of the other Indians in the northland, the Cassiar Indians are known by white men's names. While they live in tents in the summers and permanent cabins in the winter, they follow the usual round of nomadic life in the North: trapping in the winter and spring, lying around the post in the summer, and hunting meat in the fall. To the outward world, they are a shiftless bunch, lazy, good-natured and improvident, but the story brought out at the witchcraft trial gave ghastly and unmentionable details of their secret orgies in the hills, whipped into a frenzy by the incantations of the medicine men and the squaws.

Victims were tied to posts and tortured by having pins stuck into them; others were leached, spread-eagled on the ground in the depth of winter and cold water poured over them until they turned into statues of ice.

Angus Hall, of Mayerthorpe, Alberta, spent the summer in the upper Liard country, prospecting, at the time the murders and sorceries were rounded up by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. The story of that chase in those wild hills by three lone whites is one of the most stirring in the annals of a force famous for spectacular performances.

A certain Sergeant Thorne, a one-eyed veteran of the world war with the Canadian Corps, is given most of the credit for the capture of Big Alex, the woman sorcerer and other members of the tribe. Facing the sullen hostility of the red men, the mountie went along through the hills and along the rivers, ferreting out the killers, picking up a scrap here and a scrap there, until the details of the headhunting practices of these so-called converted Christians, until in a lonely canyon whither Big Alex and the woman had fled for refuge, he came upon the outlaws and brought them back to face trial.

On one occasion, while trying to catch some fish on a creek running into the Liard, a hail of bullets splattered into the water around the sergeant, but he escaped without a scratch. He was ambushed again in a mountain pass, but succeeded in evading the trap.

HORRIBLE CRIME STORY
Hall tells of a woman who went crazy and imagined that she was a beaver. Her kin played a grim joke on her, for he chopped a hole in the ice and threw her in, making obscene jests about her mating with the leader of the beaver colony. This atrocity was never proved.

Two Swede trappers also vanished on their line, and the Cassiar Indians were suspected of the dual killing, but no trace was ever found of the missing men, or of how they met their end.

Both men and women of the tribe go armed, and interfamily feuds are also said in part to be responsible for the heavy death rate of the tribe. An old woman of seventy-two used to hobble around with an old muzzle-loader which she used as a crutch, and to shoot rabbits with. One family is said to have been wiped out in a bloody battle with another family of the same band. Whites are never able to get confirmation of these stories, however.

RESIGNS POSITION AS ALBERTA HEAD OF CONSERVATIVES

CALGARY, Nov. 12.—Mr. A. A. McGillivray, K.C., of Calgary, has resigned as leader of the provincial Conservative party in Alberta, but will retain his seat in the provincial Legislature, according to an official announcement made by Mr. McGillivray this morning.

Mr. McGillivray's formal resignation was sent to Mr. H. R. Milner, K.C., of Edmonton, secretary of the Alberta Conservative Association, in the form of a letter on Monday evening, and this morning Mr. Milner announced that steps toward the appointment of a new party leader would be taken almost at once.

Three Routes Open to McAlpine Party

THE diagrammatic map reproduced here shows how the McAlpine party is situated in relation to the outside world; what search operations were carried out by air, land and sea toward their location, and probable routes down which they may be brought to civilization. As will be seen here, the McAlpine party is at Cambridge Bay, Victoria Island, in the Arctic Circle. There are three probable paths down from this point, either one of which may be used. One on the left would follow a westerly route down the Mackenzie River, terminating either at Peace River, or at Edmonton. The central course, as shown, would be a straight drop from the Arctic Circle, via Stoney Rapids, Cranberry Portage and terminating at the Pas. The easterly course would follow the air trails through Beverly Lake, Baker Lake and Chesterfield Inlet, dropping down from the latter point along the coast of Hudson Bay to Churchill. Search bases are already well supplied with provisions, rushed to these various jumping-off places during hectic days of the search.—Copyright, Star Newspaper Service.

News and Notes of the Interior

CROP OF SMITHERS DISTRICT
SMITHERS.—At the regular meeting of Smithers District Chamber of Commerce, the agricultural bureau members reported to show that crops for the year had shown a big upward trend, and with markets extending over a wider area the export figures for the season will show a gratifying increase.

KOOTENAY FLATS PRODUCE
NELSON.—Huge reclamation activities involving 7,000 acres on Kootenay flats resulted in thirty cars of wheat, the Kootenay's first wheat train, being loaded at Creston recently. About 1,000 acres of the reclaimed land was sown late to Marquis wheat, and the yield was as high as 50 to 60 bushels an acre. Combines were used in harvesting the crop.

BIG SHEEP SHIPMENT
MERRITT.—One thousand and ninety-three head of sheep were shipped from Nicola on Tuesday to Burns & Company, Vancouver. This is the largest shipment of sheep in a day from Nicola and is looked upon as an indication of the great growth of the sheep industry in what, up to a few years ago, was considered to be practically only a cattle country. The sheep came from the flocks of the following ranches: Gillis, Vellesen, Thompson, Gulchman, Crowder, Burgoyne and Danish.

ORE FROM BARINE
SMITHERS.—At the Babine Bonanza mine, a large sorting house has been erected and several men are engaged in sorting ore taken from the more recent development work. These shipments will constitute return loads for the teams to be engaged in hauling machinery and supplies during the winter. Plans have been made to ship 2,000 tons during the season of snow transportation. It is stated.

Cox's Orange Pippin Apples Sent to England

Mr. Arthur J. Rudkin, of Duncan, dispatched his annual consignment of Cox's Orange Pippin apples to England per the R.M.S.P. Company's Loch Katrine on October 24. This is the favorite and most expensive Old Country variety, the same as supplied to the agent-general, Mr. F. A. Pauline who says they are the best advertisement he has of Vancouver Island. The King's physician has also been the recipient of several boxes, this in previous years.

Owing to the difficulty of obtaining an experienced packer during the last two years, Mr. Rudkin has not solicited orders from his old customers in the United Kingdom or locally, and it was only at the last moment that he was fortunate enough to obtain the services of a most efficient packer, Mr. G. P. Booth, of Carey Road, who was able to spare a week-end up the Island, and so enabled him to fill a few pressing requests from the Old Country for these delicious apples.

SHINGLE TAX IS BEFORE SENATE
WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The Senate today began its long heralded contest over a shingle tariff with only a small group of Northwestern Senators who favor transferring this article from the free list, facing a majority of Democrats and Republicans opposed to a duty.

Senator Jones read from the report of the tariff commission which investigated the industry in 1926, showing that shingle prices were below the general level of prices of building materials. The Senator said conditions were worse than when the commission reported early in 1927.

Low prices in the Northwest, the Senator said, had resulted in the restriction of output, bankruptcies and general depression in industry. Canadian shingles, he added, had important transportation advantages over the American article.
